Emergency Fleet Hampered;
Many Homes Lost, Damaged

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Azores (AP)—A mercy fleet from five nations brought more than 1,000 dazed and shocked refugees to Angra today from the earthquake devastation of Sao Jorge Island.

U.S., Norwegian, British, Italian and Yugoslav ships shuttled back and forth over the 20-mile stretch of water between this island of Terceira and Sao Jorge.

Refugees told of villages shaken to ruins, and said the air was thick with sulphur, an indication that a new volcano is building up on the ocean floor.

The evacuation operation was halted in the afternoon, however "because authorities be-

Norwegian Ship Rescues 9 From Sinking Vessel

7 Crewmen Still

Adrift on Rafts

NEW YORK (AP)—A Norwegian freighter rescued nine men today from the disabled and helpless British merchantman, Ambassador, in the North Atlantic.

Seven crewmen remained aboard the badly listing ship on the Azores island had been rocking for four days, and one of them said the recurring quakes made it impossible to sleep.

Twenty tremors were registered by Azores authorities on Sao Jorge during Tuesday night.

The quakes have been most intense on western Sao Jorge. About 20,000 islanders call Sao Jorge home. It is an elongated island, 34 miles long and about 1 1/2 miles wide.

Tremors also were felt Tuesday night on Terceira and elsewhere in the mountainous Azores, a Portuguese possession west of Lisbon.

The quakes Bay, directing the search and waves wrecked or damaged hundreds of homes on Sao Jorge, but no casualties have been reported.

Thousands Leave

Thousands of Sao Jorge inhabitants fled to a port at east end of the island to await removal. They feared the other survivors. Two aircraft, now in their sixth day, flew search patterns, hampered by low clouds.

Telephone and telegraph communications with Sao Jorge were shaky and reports from the stricken island varied. Some said virtually the entire population of 20,000 had assembled for evacuation; other reports put the number at about 7,000.

Gov. Teotonio Machado Pires, whose district includes Terceira and Sao Jorge, said the quakes on Sao Jorge were "getting worse each minute."

The Portuguese news agency ANI said the tremors on Sao Jorge were the result of a new volcano building up on the ocean floor.

Cabinet Convenes

Portuguese Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar called a Cabinet meeting in Lisbon to discuss the islanders' plight.

The Arizpa, another American ship, was among six vessels en route to the 35-mile-long island in response to an SOS broadcast by the U.S. Air Force base at Lajes Tuesday. Other rescue ships were of British, Japanese and Norwegian registry.

Two Portuguese navy patrol boats were dispatched to join the hastily assembled rescue fleet, but a navy spokesman said 27-foot waves in the area may delay them considerably.

Sao Jorge's telephone and telegraph communications with Lisbon and other Azores islands were restricted to official calls. Authorities said one man stayed in a badly damaged postal building to transmit over the shaky circuit.

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—An American Air Force policeman shot and wounded a South Korean trespasser Tuesday at the U.S. air base at Osan, about 25 miles south of Seoul.

It was the fifth such shooting at a U.S. military camp in Korea this month. Three other Koreans have been killed and three wounded.

Former Policeman Accused

Masterminded $20,000 Holdup,
Confessed Bandit Tells Probers

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Sun-Times said today a confessed bandit has named a Chicago policeman as the mastermind of a robbery gang which included a former policeman.

The paper said investigators included a former policeman, Sheriff Richard B. Ogilvie, who would kill him if they could find him.

The paper said Arnold confessed his role in a gang that engineered a score of robberies last year in southern Cook County and Chicago. He was reported by the paper as having told sheriff's investigators that the Chicago policeman selected the discount store for the robbery. He also was reported to have given the bandits a diagram of the store, telling them where to hide in the store until closing time, and, afterward, meeting them at a girl friend's home to split the loot.

Sheriff's detectives, the Sun-Times said, identified the confessed robber as Leon Arnold, 30, who surrendered to story, the Sun-Times said.

The paper said the five men charged with the robbery of the Zayre's Discount Store in war-protective custody, saying that ants obtained by sheriff's police were Robert Somerville, 40, on $5,000 bond; Gail Somerville, 37, freed on $15,000 bond; Paul Langusch, 26, freed in $5,000 bond; Douglas Aldridge, 27, the third of the five men held in jail, and Edward Somerville, 26, who is being sought by police. The Chicago Tribune said detectives for some weeks have investigated the policeman's alleged ties with the gang which has staged a series of robberies, burglaries, car thefts and other crimes over the past 18 months. It said the gang's operations have extended into Wisconsin and Indiana.

New Airport Favored For Fox Cities Region

CAB Examiner Says Service To Outagamie Should Continue, Covenant Shifted

BY FRANCES MEKUSKICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner Edward T. Stodola today recommended a new regional airport located near Neenah to serve the Appleton-Oshkosh area.

In a decision reached this morning, Stodola said that if Outagamie and Winnebago counties cannot reach an agreement on a common or joint airport, the present scheduled service at Appleton should be transferred to the new Outagamie County Airport being built in the Town of Greenville, three miles west of Appleton. He also recommended that Winnebago county should retain airline service.

Stodola pointed out that since the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) has informally approved the master plan for the new Outagamie County Airport, "it will very likely be willing to transfer to the new facility the obligations and covenant attached to the old airport as a consequence of earlier grants of federal aid."

Need Improvement

The CAB examiner said the Winnebago port will need further improvement "to meet current FAA recommendations and design standards for high performance aircraft. And the proposed Outagamie airport facilities for this complex of communities."

24 Hours Daily,
Russell Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., announced today after a conference of Southern senators opposed to the House-passed civil rights bill that "we intend to fight this bill with all the vigor at our command."

Russell, chief spokesman of Southern opponents, said they will be prepared to debate the legislation 24 hours a day if proponents decide to conduct around-the-clock sessions in an attempt to win passage.

19 Senators in Group

The Southerners — Russell estimated their total strength at 19 — took their stand after administration leaders took a no-compromise attitude on the House-approved bill.

The measure seems likely to provide an ultimate test of President Johnson's ability to get controversial legislation out of Congress.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader who will serve as Senate floor manager for the measure, said the President is completely committed to the strong terms of the House bill.

No Deals

Humphrey added there would be "no wheels or deals" to gain its passage even if it takes weary weeks to break through a Southern filibuster. The measure may be brought up next week.

Humphrey's optimism that the House bill can be passed without substantial changes was not shared by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

"There are going to be some compromises," Dirksen said in an interview. "I am going to give the administration an opportunity to compromise, and we'll see what happens."

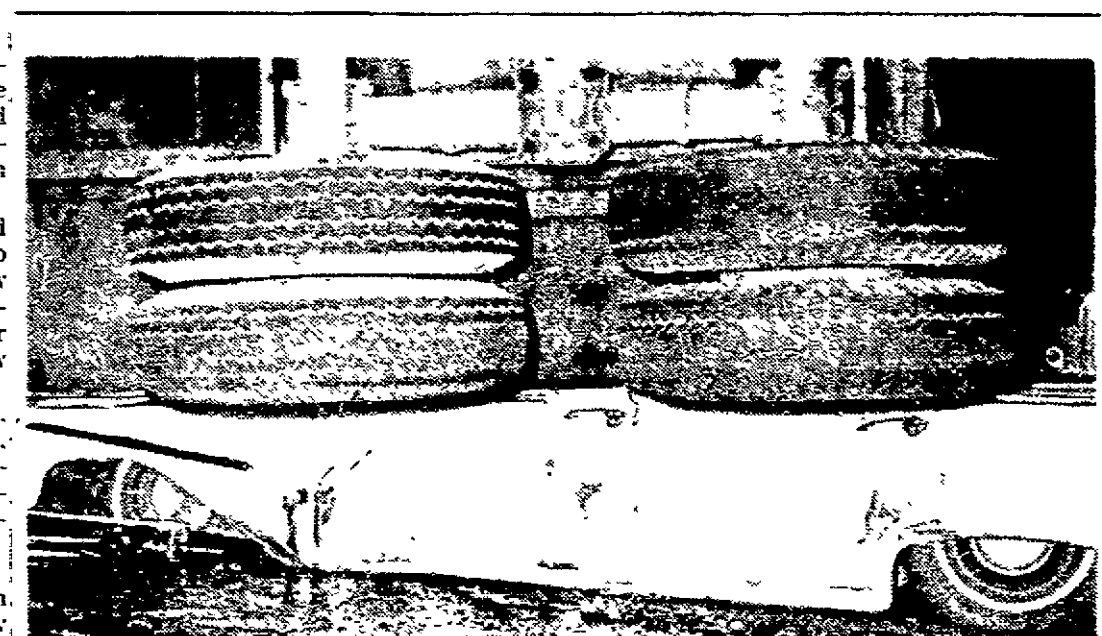

Dirksen said he will offer a proposal calling for voluntary desegregation of hotels, motels, restaurants and other places of public accommodation. The House-approved bill would make such desegregation mandatory in a selected field.

Reynolds-Lucey Camp Wins All Eighth District Delegates

Governor-Backed Dean Lewis
Beats Appleton's Mrs. Cherkasky

BY JAMES BARTELT
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Eighth District Democrats Tuesday night elected four national convention delegates backed by Gov. John Reynolds and in the process rejected Mrs. Shirley Cherkasky, vice chairman of the party's state administrative committee from Appleton.

The election represented another chapter in the power struggle between the forces of Reynolds and Patrick Lucey, national committeeman, versus the forces of Sen. Gaylord Nelson and J. Louis Hanson, state chairman. Mrs. Cherkasky, long-time district secretary-treasurer, lined up with the Nelson-Hanson side at a state committee roll call last month on filling state party vacancies.

To climax the stormy caucus, the district Democrats staged another battle on a resolution to ask Robert McCormick, Green Bay, to resign as district chairman. After overriding an announced vote in favor of adjournment, an effort to take the anti-McCormick resolution from the table failed on a standing vote recorded as about 180 to 130.

But the anti-McCormick leaders indicated they would try again at a March 22 caucus at Algoma.

The convention delegates elected were: John Duffy, Green Bay lawyer, who received 423 votes; Milton McDugal, Oconto Falls cattle dealer, 398 votes; Vic Miller, St. Nazianz businessman, 352 votes, and Dean Lewis, Appleton tailor, 279 votes.

Duffy and McDugal will have one vote each. The four will go on the April primary ballot pledged to President Johnson, probably through the device of a favorite son.

Other candidates were Mrs. Cherkasky, 194 votes; Charles Kudar, Niagara, 133, and Robert Gustafson, Surgeon Bay, 150. Persons arriving for the caucus were handed slips with the names of the eventual successful four candidates and told "These are the ones the govern-

Senior Sinatra Seen

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frank Sinatra Jr. is in London today, leaving the possibility that he reached a Nevada roadblock last Dec. 8.

Defendants Barry Keenan, 23, Joseph Amster, 23, and John Irwin, 42, are accused of kidnapping young Sinatra on that date and holding him for $240,000 ransom.

A half-day session—due to a juror's wish to attend an afternoon family funeral—could postpone the elder Sinatra's appearance another day.

Young Sinatra, 20, under contract to the revamped Tommy Dorsey band, was given government permission to rejoin the band in Europe. He is on a 12-to 24-hour call to return for further testimony if needed.

Labor Leaders Will Not Drop Boycott Plans

Insist They Will Not Load Grain
Ships for Russia

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Labor leaders in their first full-scale row with President Johnson, vow they will not retreat from their boycott of U.S. wheat shipments to the Soviet Union.

"There's nobody who can change this deal but me," said President Thomas W. Gleason of the International Longshoremen's Union Tuesday. "And I will not back down."

Gleason had the full support of AFL-CIO officials, including President George Meany, in rejecting Johnson's plea to end the boycott.

Attitude Hardens

Labor's attitude appeared to harden in the face of renewed attempts at a settlement by Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, special emissary of the President.

Gleason and Paul Hall, president of the AFL-CIO's Maritime Trades Department, insist that at least half the wheat be shipped in U.S. vessels.

Hall claimed the Johnson administration had reneged on the late President John F. Kennedy's promise that at least half the wheat would be transported in American ships. He demanded that the federal government renew the pledge in writing, with the signatures of all Cabinet officers involved.

Many Oddities In State Laws For Elections

Shows Extent States Do Not Conform to Supreme Court Rule

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislative oddities pop up in many state laws governing the election of members of the House of Representatives. They show the extent to which many states do not conform to Monday's Supreme Court ruling that each member of the House should represent as nearly as possible the same number of constituents.

An Associated Press survey shows that only two states—Maryland and Georgia—have moved to get in line with the high court's landmark ruling. Although there were indications that many federal courts suits would be filed to force compliance with the "one man, one vote" ruling, officials in many states apparently were hoping to stall off action at least until next year.

Another Story
In Georgia and Maryland, it was a different story. The Georgia Legislature had started to work on revamping its congressional district lines before Monday's Supreme Court ruling. A final plan is expected to pass Friday night.

Under Georgia's apportionment, which brought on Monday's ruling, one district has a population of only 272,000 while another bulges with 824,000.

In Maryland, Gov. J. Millard Tawes accepted a suggestion by his legislative leaders to let a joint legislative committee try to come up with an equitable redistricting plan.

Special Session
The Democratic governor said he would call the General Assembly into special session if the proposed congressional districts seem in accord with the high court's ruling.

Three of Maryland's districts have populations of less than 300,000, three others have more than 600,000.

In line with the court's decision, the ideal constituency would be about 408,000 for each of the 435 House members—based on the 1960 population. But legislative oddities under many state laws permit gigantic variances.

Texas District
For example, Rep. Bruce Alger, a Texas Republican, has 951,527 persons in his district. Another Republican, John B. Bennett of Michigan, has the smallest district, only 177,000.

One of Arizona's three districts has a population of 663,500, more than that of the other two combined.

California's 33 districts include 21 with population below 400,000 and five that exceed 500,000.

The population range of Colorado's four districts is from a high of 654,000 to a low of 196,000. The spread in Connecticut's five districts is from 319,000 to 690,000.

Florida, with 12 districts, has carved up the state into areas ranging from a low of 237,000 to a high of 660,000.

On Voting Districts

Supreme Court Makes 2 Historic Decisions

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — It is almost 10 years since the Supreme Court, after watching Congress for half a century duck this country's most important social problem, decided to tackle the job itself.

This was the May 17, 1954, decision declaring segregation of Negroes unconstitutional. This, one of the most far-reaching court decisions in American history, began a social revolution still being fought out.

Again, after watching Congress and state legislatures fail for generations to give voters a fairer representation, the court moved into this vacuum with two landmark political decisions.

Voting District
In these—one in 1962, the second last Monday—the court said voting districts, from which representatives are sent to Congress and state legislatures, must be rearranged to make the population in each more equal.

As it is now, one district with 900,000 people may have only one representative in Congress while another, with only 200,000 people, also has one.

These social and political decisions had the effect of legislation, a field supposedly reserved under the Constitution for the legislative branch of government.

Nothing in the Constitution specifically gives the court the right to do this. But nothing in the Constitution says it can't. And it's the court which interprets the Constitution.

Not First Time
This is not the first time the court has assumed a right not spelled out. It has done that repeatedly, although for long periods haltingly.

What's the alternative? If the legislative branch fails to correct an obvious wrong, must the court also do nothing even though it has power to act? By its decisions the court has rejected such a philosophy.

Even after the 1954 decision Congress has gone less than all-out to end segregation. It passed two fairly mild civil rights bills—in 1957 and 1960. But now it is wrestling with a truly powerful antidiscrimination bill.

Southern Democrats
It cannot be plausibly argued that Southern Democrats were only have built up racial hatred solely responsible for the failure in this country but would have made American foreign policy look ludicrous now when it is of the 20th century until 1957, trying to win the friendship of Negroes' civil rights through all the world's backward peoples, especially since most of the truth is that the rest of the world's people are not white.

Post Office Closing

BEAR CREEK—The post office will be closed Saturday to observe Washington's birthday. There will be no incoming or outgoing mail.

members—always in a majority—never cared enough about the rights of Negro citizens to squelch the Southerners, as they could have, at any time. They just ignored the problem and the injustice.

If the court had not acted, segregation would probably still be considered constitutional, as it was until 1954, and might have continued so for years, since Congress showed no inclination to ban it.

Yet, such a policy would not be considered constitutional, as it was until 1954, and might have continued so for years, since Congress showed no inclination to ban it.

Appleton School Bond Issue Okayed

Consultant Says Litigation Won't Keep City From Seeking Funds

Appleton can proceed with a $1,570,000 bond issue for a new school although legal action has been started against it.

A complaint was served against the city last week and seeking a declaratory judgment.

Mayor Suggests City-College Joint Session

Appleton Interest in Lawrence Expansion Cited by Mitchell

Mayor Clarence Mitchell today proposed a meeting of city officials with Lawrence College representatives to discuss long-range plans, especially future expansions.

Mitchell spelled out his interest in city-college plans in a letter to Marvin O. Wrostad, Lawrence College business manager.

The mayor indicated interest in any future building plans the college may have when Milwaukee Downer becomes a part of the institution next term.

"I have followed with a great deal of interest the expansion and growth of Lawrence College over the past number of years," Mitchell said. "Also, I was very much impressed with the article in the newspaper the other evening in regard to the revamping or remodeling that is going to be done at Lawrence College Memorial Chapel."

City Has Interest Mitchell said the city has taken an interest in various college buildings that have been or are now being built on the campus.

"We presume other facilities will have to be constructed or expanded with Downer College becoming a part of Lawrence College," Mitchell added.

Mitchell said he felt certain the administration and trustees of the college were interested in the city's future plans.

He suggested representatives of the college and members of the city plan commission hold a joint meeting "for the purpose of discussing present plans and what the future plans may be so far as they concern Lawrence College and the City of Appleton."

Outagamie Democrats Seek To End Split in County Unit

See Fracture as Side Effect of Wisconsin Party Differences

BY MARK E. OLIVA

Outagamie County Democratic leaders today began making efforts to reunite the county party after a split that came to a head with the defeat of Mrs. Shirley Cherkasky, county-backed national party convention delegate, by Dean Lewis, second precinct county vice chairman, backed by Gov. John Reynolds.

The split, broken open at the Eighth District caucus in Green Bay Tuesday, was not caused by intra-county differences, but was a side-effect of the state party's split between the Sen. Gaylord Nelson-State Chairman J. Louis Hanson faction and the Reynolds-Patrick Lucey camp.

Mrs. Cherkasky, backed for more than a month by the county party, aligned herself with the Hanson-Nelson bloc at a state committee roll call on vacancy-filling in January. Lewis was cycled image. "The governor's Reynolds' campaign chairman in office does not care about an Outagamie County in 1962 and image. It wants stooges — a ward-heeler's party."

Lewis today told the Post-Crescent he did not run against Mrs. Cherkasky "to buck the Outagamie party, but remained on the state because of my political stand."

"There are and have been no personal differences between Mrs. Cherkasky and myself, and I respect and praise her for the work she has done for the county, district, state and national party during the last 14 years. She is a solid and good Democrat."

Reynolds Thursday told Lewis he wanted Lewis on his slate of the Eighth District delegate candidates. Lewis made several attempts to be replaced on the governor's slate over the week-end to avoid a county split, but the governor asked him to remain.

Mrs. Cherkasky and Lewis conferred before the election and made clear there were no personal differences between them as opposing candidates. But other county party members, irked by Reynolds' action, went into the caucus with some hostilities.

Lester Balliet, Outagamie party chairman, seconding Mrs. Cherkasky's nomination, said, "You (Reynolds) can't dictate to us who to vote for." At this point the governor and Mrs. Reynolds left the caucus room and did not return until after Balliet finished his speech.

Served Faithfully Balliet continued, "Shirley served the Democrats faithfully for 14 years. He (Lewis) isn't a long-time friend of yours (Reynolds), he's only been here two years." Lewis was active in the Missouri party before moving to Wisconsin recently.

Mrs. Cherkasky said today she didn't think Tuesday's caucus action would or should split the county party. "We've spent 14 years building a good Democratic Party. We didn't lose our principals. No one will walk out. We don't have and won't have any factionalism."

PSC Denies Request of North Western

Railroad Wanted Rehearing of Extension Decision

A request by the Chicago and North Western Railroad for a rehearing on the Washington-Franklin Street extension has been denied by the Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC).

The railroad sought a rehearing of a Dec. 20, 1963 PSC ruling which authorized grade crossings for the street extension project, and ordered installation of signals.

The latest ruling on the petition for rehearing represents the city's second victory over the railroad. Final recourse would be a Circuit Court action.

No Objection The PSC said the railroad Jan. 9 filed application for rehearing. The City of Appleton registered no objection.

However, the public service commission concluded: "This commission has duly considered the matters set forth in the application for rehearing and the allegations and the record, and considers that its original order is supported by substantial evidence that no good purpose would be served by a rehearing."

John F. Goetz, PSC secretary, said the commission took its action Tuesday.

The city is proceeding with plans for joining the streets and extending Franklin to N. Richmond Street.

Officials Discuss Legal Action on Kilsdonk Killing

Investigation May Be Taken to Grand Jury or Inquest

Possibilities that the murder case of Mrs. Marvin Kilsdonk, pretty Black Creek farmwife found dead in her home last December, may be taken to a grand jury or a coroner's inquest were discussed Tuesday by Outagamie County authorities and William Platz, assistant attorney general.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, Coroner Bernard H. Kemps and Sheriff Lt. Jack Zuerke discussed the murder with Platz in the attorney general's office in Madison Tuesday afternoon.

Authorities said today no definite plan of action resulted from the discussion. The talk was a "strategy" meeting on how to proceed in the murder investigation, authorities said.

Mrs. Kilsdonk, 26, was found lying on the kitchen floor by her husband when he returned from work Dec. 18. She had been stabbed repeatedly about the head, shoulders and chest. Her 4-month-old son was found unharmed on a kitchen table near his mother's body.

In a grand jury investigation, witnesses would be called by the district attorney to give secret testimony. The jury would deliberate the case and decide if an indictment should be issued.

Testimony would be given in the case of a coroner's jury, but the testimony could be public. The jury would then decide if a warrant or charge should be filed in the case.

Buckley Backs Home Removal

A resolution asking condemnation of the residence at 1033 E. Woodland Ave. alleging "it is unfit for human habitation" was submitted today for consideration by the city council.

Ald. George Buckley (14th) asked it be referred to the appropriate committee, and the building inspector be ordered to have the building removed.

Accompanying Buckley's resolution was a petition signed by 19 residents in his ward, with photographs of the home attached.

The petition, circulated recently by residents in the area who say they have wanted the situation corrected for months, asked Buckley to introduce a resolution calling for condemnation.

City officials said the family residing in the home has been receiving some county welfare assistance. At least two members of the family occupying the rented home reportedly have been ill for a long period of time.

The workshop will run from noon to 6 p.m. It will consist of a joint assembly, three workshops, a final general assembly and mass starting at 5 p.m. The assemblies will be held in Xavier Commons, the workshops in various classrooms and the mass in the gymnasium.

Preparatory Program Workshops will be conducted by Xavier YCS members who are now going through an intensive program of studies and discussions in preparation for the program.

If Approved by Appleton Council Chicago Firm Will Start Work On Survey Project Immediately

A Chicago firm will start work immediately on a water study for the City of Appleton to weigh the advantages of Lake Michigan or Lake Winnebago for a future supply, if the council approves the study tonight.

Meeting in city hall Tuesday, the board of public works approved the study, plus a financial report, to be prepared by Consoer, Townsend and Associates for an estimated $16,000-$17,000. Both will be completed in six months.

Originally, the firm estimated it would cost $15,000-$25,000 to complete information requested by the city, and to make recommendations.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues predicted the total cost might be about $20,000 before the study is done.

Feasibility Study Bues said the feasibility study on the water source would cost $12,500, according to the contract agreed to by the consulting firm.

He explained, however, no set price was set on compiling the report, which would project Appleton's water needs, rates and other data. Bues said it "might run into $3,000 or $4,000."

"We didn't know how much time the financial report would take and they didn't either," Bues told the board.

It was explained that for any extra work required beyond the terms of the contract, the firm would charge the city at the rate of two and a half times an engineer's productive wage.

In Study The study will consider Appleton going to Lake Winnebago with a pipeline; Appleton and other Fox Cities tapping Lake Michigan; and Appleton going alone to Lake Michigan.

Other communities in the region have rejected an invitation by Appleton to join in a cooperative pipeline to Lake Michigan. Lake Michigan received the recommendation of the Appleton Water Commission, based on a report prepared a year ago by Alvord, Burdick and Howsen of Chicago. It cost $3,000.

However, the common council decided it wanted another report before taking final action on a future water source.

Will Deal With Place of Layman In Religious Action

A workshop entitled "A Student's Response to the Church, 1964" will be conducted by the Xavier High School Young Christian Students March 22.

The workshop will be aimed principally at high school students, and will deal with the place of the layman in the church and effective means of Catholic action. A special session for adult leaders of Young Christian Students groups also will be held.

Featured speakers at the general assemblies will be the Rev. Msgr. William J. Quinn and the Rev. Marvin Mottet. Msgr. Quinn is head of the Cardinal's Commission on Migratory Workers of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. He was formerly Catholic Action coordinator of the Archdiocese of Chicago. He has traveled widely throughout the United States and Latin America, and is affiliated with the Papal Volunteers for Latin America.

Driver Killed In Truck Crash Near Tomah

Shawano County Man Dies in Traffic Accident at Tilleda

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four persons, including a Minnesota truck driver, have been killed in separate traffic accidents in Wisconsin. Their deaths raised the 1964 highway toll to 125, compared with 75 on this date a year ago.

James A. DuVal, 48, of Spring Valley, Minn., was killed at 5 a.m. today in the collision of two trucks on Highway 12-16, six miles east of Tomah.

DuVal was driving a truck owned by the Warren Grain Co. loaded with shelled corn. The other truck, loaded with house-hold furniture, was driven by Garlon E. Armstrong, 36, Route 1, Mauston, employed by the Raymond company. Armstrong was hospitalized at Tomah but his condition was not critical.

Robert W. Palmer, 16, of Waukesha, died late Tuesday night of injuries suffered Feb. 1 when the car he was driving left a street near Waukesha and struck a utility pole.

Samuel Buckoski, 28, of rural Bowler in Shawano County was killed at 11:50 p.m. Tuesday in a collision between his car and a truck just south of the village of Tilleda—15 miles southwest of Shawano—on Highway 29.

Jeffrey Thompson, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson of Cazenovia, was struck and killed by a truck Tuesday on Richland County Trunk I southwest of Cazenovia.

When his parents were unable to free the right wrist which was still encased in the iron bracelet, Mike was taken to the Appleton police station for help.

At the station, it was learned Mike had borrowed a pair of Japanese - style handcuffs and the local police's American-style keys would not turn the lock.

Mike was sent to a local dealer in police merchandise who had some foreign handcuff keys, but none of the keys would help Mike out of his problem.

No Locksmith From there, with time drawing close to when Mike was to be in school at Wilson Junior High, Mike was sent to a locksmith. The locksmith was not available, however.

Police offered to cut the bracelet from Mike's wrist, but he said the cuffs were borrowed from a friend and he would have to pay for them if they were damaged. Mike told police that his friend in Menasha had a spare key and Mike would see him tonight and get the extra key.

However, Mike's troubles didn't end when he went off to school with his right wrist still snared by the tricky bracelet. Mike's principal spotted him walking into the school and sent him home. Mike was told not to

Sparks Couple Debut Performance Polished

Lawrence Faculty Clarinetist, Wife Have Subtle, Refined Sound, Control

BY DON VORPAHL
Of Lawrence College
Monday night, for the second consecutive night, the sounds of wind and string instrumentation pervaded Lawrence College's Harper Hall, this time as faculty clarinetist Dan Coakley Sparks made his formal Appleton recital debut, ably helped by his wife, pianist Linda Bryan Sparks, and a quartet of lady string players from this area.

Their program of sonata, quintet and sextet music was an interesting contrast to Sunday's chamber orchestra concert, and their very reserved approach to their music made the distinction even more pronounced. Sparks plays with a generally subtle, refined sound. He has fine control, a good color-palette and a scholar's sensitivity. His probes into the music of Mozart, Brahms, Prokofiev and Bernstein were well-defined and always in good taste.

2 Fox Valley Natives to be In Recital

Lawrence Music Program Includes Church Organist

Two Fox Valley natives and a church musician will be among the Lawrence College student recitalists featured on an instrumental program planned for 2:30 p.m. Friday in Harper Hall at the college Music-Drama Center.

Ellen Larson, 540 Outagamie Court, and Ruth Dahlke, Weyauwega, both Lawrence Conservatory junior organists, will perform in the program's opening work, a concerto for wind instruments, violoncello and organ by Georg Phillip Telemann.

Appearing with them will be organist John Hebbethwaite, another conservatory junior, from Libertyville, Ill. Hebbethwaite is organist-choirmaster of First Congregational Church, Menasha.

Also In Recital

Also in the recital will be Donald Neau, Kenosha; David Parkinson, Cleveland Heights, Ohio; Philip Metzger, Prairie Village, Kans.; George Peitler, Shawnee Mission, Kans.; Dale Duesing, Milwaukee; Alice Hasenauer, Evanston, Ill.; Janet Schmalfeldt, Silver Lake; Mary McBroom, Hartland; Pamela Sabot, Cobleskill, N. Y.; Shirley Barstow, Galesburg, Ill.; and Mary Oswald, Three Lakes.

The program, 11th in the year's student series, includes works from baroque, romantic and contemporary sources:

Concerto in D minor, Telemann; Donald Neau, Piccolo Trumpet; David Parkinson, cello; Ellen Larson, oboe; John Hebbethwaite, organ; Ruth Dahlke, oboe; Sonata in A minor, Telemann.

Large Vivace Affettuoso Allegro

Philip Metzger, flute; George Peitler, violin; Dale Duesing, piano; Nocturne No. 3, Chopin; Anne Haselden, piano; Legend Janet Schmalfeldt, trumpet; Sonata for Two Clarinets (B flat and A), Poulenc; Presto Andante Vii;

Mary McBroom and Pamela Sabot; Intermezzo in A major, Op. 76, No. 4, Brahms; Intermezzo in E minor, Op. 119, No. 1, Brahms; Allegro Barroco, Shirley Barstow, piano; Bartok.

The Mesdames Ludy Baicher Heberg and Evelyn Erickson Wilke, violins; Lucille Rogers Orbison, viola; and Virginia Moersch Smith, violoncello offered an equally satisfying element to the program. That so polished a quartet exists hereabouts was a great and pleasant surprise to us, as it must have been to many in this audience.

The Mozart "Quintet in A Major, K. 581," and Brahms "Sonata in F Minor, Op. 120, No. 1" were the meat of their program.

The former showed off Sparks' clarinet in graceful melodies, some of completely soloistic proponent of the "Magic Flute" with the violin. A second theme in the first movement was reminiscent of the "Magid Flute" with almost romantic passages darting about. A third movement, "Menuetto", consists of light-hearted trios of folk-like character. In these, and in the quicker first and final movements, the performers set a deliberate pace, quite light and reserved.

Full-Blown Work

The Brahms sonata, a real staple in the clarinet sonata catalogue, is a passionate full-blown romantic work notable for its whirlwind tempi and impetuous rising and falling emotional patterns. Sparks and his wife kept to a fairly conservative treatment with their best moments coming in the gently flowing third movement.

Another sonata, a 1941 score, by Leonard Bernstein, gave a program. Sparks departed from conventional sounds to give a number of shrill and melancholy swoops with his horn. Bernstein's impish rhythms and melodies offered additional in-taste.

The entire musical cast assembled for a closing work by Serge Prokofiev, his "Overture on Hebrew Themes, Op. 34." Its effervescent texture and explosiveness made it the last word in chamber music for someone who has everything.

DOES COMMERCIAL ART DEGRADE ART?
YES ☐ NO ☐

No. Most of the Great Masters painted for patrons. Those who painted the portraits of kings, other nobles and popes were just as much commercial artists as those who now paint for magazines and advertising companies. The truly great artist does not always paint what he wants, but he paints as he must, regardless of whether he is doing an assignment, expressing his soul, or saying something important to the world.

Turn off the lights when you watch television.

Good — Bad —
Bad. Lead at least one lamp burning. Other suggestions for television viewing, made by the National Society for Prevention of Blindness, are to sit at least 10 feet from the set, and have the television screen about at eye level. In this way watching television won't hurt your eyes. This goes for children too. Their inclination is to sit on the floor too close to the set for real comfort.

Do the wrong people have large families?
Yes — No —
No, not according to the well-known study of families in the Detroit area. Three times more happily married couples than dissatisfied couples wanted three or four children. The number of children desired rises steadily with the happiness of the young families.

Don't condemn the shy child. The shy child needs understanding. The complex problem of timidity in children is explored frankly and completely in the booklet, "The Shy Child." Send 25 cents for each copy, along with your name and address, to: "Let's Explore Your Mind," care of this newspaper.

Kimberly Catholic Pupils May Move to Public School

Second Graders Might Transfer In 1965, Third Graders in 1966

KIMBERLY — The second grade class at Holy Name Catholic School may be transferred to the public school in September, 1965, the parochial school board has told the Kimberly board.

The parochial board also said the third grade from that school might be added to the public school system in Sept., 1966. This would be in addition to continuing the shared time program for seventh and eighth grade youngsters currently in effect.

Should such a move become a reality, the public school would be faced with the need for seven new classrooms and seven additional teachers in 1965 and another seven classrooms and teachers in 1966, according to

Reynolds Says Roads Help Economy

GREEN BAY — If there is no freeway stretching into northern Wisconsin in the future, that part of the state will become an economic wasteland.

This was stressed by Gov. John Reynolds Tuesday when he spoke at a luncheon in Club Sahara sponsored by the Democratic party.

Promoting his proposal for a new freeway and interstate highway systems, Gov. Reynolds said new highways to the northern and the western portion of the state, now economically depressed, would be a vital step in the necessary growth of the economy in this area.

Declining Resources
"Much of this area is now depending on declining natural resources, particularly timber and minerals," the governor said. He pointed out a large percentage of the people rely on the tourist trade, now the third largest industry in the state.

"There is a great potential in the development of the tourist business, but we need the free ways to bring the people up to this area," Reynolds said.

The governor pointed out the satisfaction of economic needs in the north was just a phase of the program which will be put before the state voters in a referendum this spring.

He also said more than half of the industries in Wisconsin use highways to transport goods to market, and the needs of modern transportation can best be met on freeway and interstate highways.

West Bend Firm Filed Suit for Patent Violation

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gehl Bros. Manufacturing Co. of West Bend filed in U.S. District Court Tuesday a patent infringement suit against the Fleet Wholesale Supply Co., Inc., of Appleton.

The suit, charging unfair competition and seeking triple damages, said the Appleton company has been selling forage harvester knives bearing the name Gehl as a trademark.

The use of the name would lead purchasers to believe the knives were either manufactured or sponsored by Gehl Bros., the complaint said. Gehl said it has used the trademark on knives since 1917 and spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in advertising the trademark.

Donald Coenen, a manager for Fleet, said firm officials were out of town and could not be reached for comment.

Home Builders Protest Ordinance Requiring Curb Removal Permit

Objections to the city's policy of requiring contractors to obtain a permit before removing curbs and installing driveways at new home sites were raised today by the Valley Home Builders Assn.

Donald E. Revoir, association secretary, sent a letter to Mayor Clarence Mitchell and the common council expressing his group's views.

"This (the city's requirement) causes serious delays in our schedules for completing the construction project, and to our minds serves no practical purpose," Revoir said.

The association urged modification of the existing law to "ease the burden it imposes on all home builders."

Tax Credit

A check for $286,093 was received by City Treasurer Ray Feuerstein today, representing Appleton's personal property credit refund (sales tax) from the Wisconsin Department of Taxation. In 1963 Appleton received $286,041.

Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools.

Normal public school enrollment increases would require seven more classrooms by 1968, Hamann said. Present elementary school enrollment is 1,658, and projected to 1966 was 1,216, said the superintendent. Should second and third graders be transferred from Holy Name to the public school, enrollment in 1966 would be 1,591, an increase of 375 over the previous estimate.

Other Enrollments
Junior High enrollment at present is 274 and 264 Holy Name students are enrolled in the shared time program. By 1966, the junior high enrollment is expected to reach 405 and if shared time is continued, an additional 315 students will be handled, said Hamann.

Senior high enrollment is 440 and projected figures show an enrollment of 548 by 1966. Plans call for the second story of the new structure to be completed in 1968 when the enrollment will have reached 762. It is expected 1,021 students will be enrolled in high school by 1973.

When the high school was constructed, it was felt the district would be in good shape for school buildings and classrooms for 10 years, but with shared time students and the addition of second and third grade classes from the parochial school, a building program would again be necessary in the village well before that time, said the superintendent.

Possible Solutions
He said the board of education would undertake a study of possible solutions to the school question pending definite word from Holy Name parish on the future of the lower elementary grades. Possibilities to be explored include construction of additional classrooms on existing elementary schools, construction of a new elementary school, and conversion of the existing junior high into an elementary building and building a new junior high school.

The parochial school is faced with a double problem. There is a definite lack of space for students at present and a building program is unlikely due to current indebtedness of the parish. The second problem is finding qualified teachers if a school addition were possible.

Indications are the Holy Name school board will call a general parish meeting to discuss possible solutions, contact will be made with the Bishop of the diocese to ascertain whether further indebtedness of the parish is warranted and whether parish members would be willing to accept further assessments to permit holding second and third graders in the parish school.

Although no definite decision has been made, the parochial school board felt it was important to acquaint the public school board members of possible action to permit proper planning. School district board members expressed appreciation for the cooperative attitude of the Catholic school group in keeping them abreast of school actions.

Funds Donated for 14 Teacher Scholarships to State Audubon Camp

Funds for 14 teacher scholarships to the summer Audubon Camp of Wisconsin have been privately donated. An earlier news article in the Post-Crescent said the summer funds were provided by the National Audubon Society.

Meetings will be held where Audubon representatives will speak to teachers in Appleton, Neenah and Kaukauna schools to explain camp programs.

Mrs. J. L. Tibbets, president of the Appleton Audubon Society, said the camps are held each year in northern Wisconsin to acquaint the public with the need for conservation of wildlife, plants, soil and water.

Further Proceedings Set on Traffic Counts

OSHKOSH — Further proceedings were set for Tuesday on a speeding and arterial violation charge against Michael W. Bogan, 21, 512½ Grove St., Neenah. Bogan was arraigned on the charges before Winnebago County Judge James Sitter this morning and said he had contacted an attorney. He was charged with speeding 103 miles an hour at night on State 114 in the Town of Neenah and of not stopping for the arterial at U. S. 41 ramp road intersection with State 114 last Saturday.

Hilbert Teacher Salaries Upped

New Schedule Provides Increase Up to $200 a Year

HILBERT — The school board here Monday night informally discussed the new teacher pay schedule before declaring an executive session.

The schedule as presented to the teachers shows starting salaries at $3,900 for teachers with three years or less of education. Teachers with a bachelor degree, according to schedule, start at $4,900. Those with a bachelor degree plus 15 graduate hours of study start at $5,000 and teachers with a master degree start at $5,300.

For the first three years in the Hilbert system the schedule would raise salaries $200 per year and after that it would drop to $150 per year.

President Walter Vollmer suggested that rather than follow the schedule strictly, each teacher should be individually evaluated on their own merits and granted raises accordingly.

Recommendations by teachers concerning the schedule were reviewed during the executive session.

Tony Valukas, Lawrence College junior, was unopposed for student body president in a campus election. Valukas, from Palatine, Ill., succeeds Steve Elliott, Fond du Lac. He took office this week at a meeting in the Memorial Union.

New operating procedures for the Outagamie County Humane Society's animal shelter at Mackville were discussed and approved Monday night by the board of directors.

Here are the new rules to be put into effect immediately.

Visiting hours at the shelter will be from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily, and Sundays by appointment. Persons wanting their pets "put to sleep" at the shelter shall make a donation to the society for this service.

KIMBERLY — John M. Rubsam, 18, 1625 S. Madison St., Appleton, suffered bruises when the car in which he was a passenger was involved in an accident about 8:40 p.m. Monday, according to village police.

Arnold Coenen, 18, 1519 S. Lawe St., Appleton, driver of the car, told police he was making a right turn from Kimberly Avenue onto James Street when the steering wheel slipped from his grasp and the car jumped at the curb and struck a tree. About $200 damage was estimated to the car.

Two Neenah Fires Cause No Damage

NEENAH — No damage was caused in two fires to which Neenah firemen were called Tuesday evening.

Land Rezoned In Kaukauna For Garage

Council Approves Recommendation of Plan Commission

KAUKAUNA — Common council Tuesday night approved rezoning recommended by the planning commission including a parcel of land with 193-foot frontage on Plank Road from class B residential to central business district.

The property is owned by the city, but is being sought by Van Dyn Hoven Buick Sales to permit garage expansion. Van Dyn Hoven is attempting to purchase the property from the city, but Railway to permit the city to no action will be taken until the commission and finance committee sets up a general policy for disposing of city-owned land. The clerk was instructed to advertise public hearings on the proposed zoning change.

Aldermen voted to rezone another lot from class A to class B residential as recommended by the planning commission.

The lot is on Draper Street and the owner plans to construct a duplex home in the area. A request from an Appleton resident to operate a beauty shop in a private residence on Welhouse Drive was denied after er a letter of objection was filed by adjacent property owners.

Approval was given installation of fence around the baseball field, the east side of the Boyd Avenue playground area and the purchase of backstops for the library and Tenth Street playground areas.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the mayor to enter into a licensing agreement with the Chicago and North Western Railway to permit the city to use the railway for the storage of manholes upon railway property.

Chronic Infection Is Difficult to Remedy

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: For five years I have had a chronic infection in the right ear. Now it has developed in the left. The doctor says it is most difficult to clear up this sort of thing but that, with a special culture taken, it may be possible. Is this true? Rather, is there hope? (P.N.)

Yes, there is hope. A great majority of casual infections can be cleared up in short order with the antibiotics, as you know. As you—or a dermatologist—can testify, some infections can become very stubborn indeed. The infection may be from a breed of germ which resists the antibiotics. It may be a fungus. Or some dermatitis may have developed, perhaps not originally from germs; the rough, irritated skin has been invaded by a new bacterial infection in addition. This is the sort of trouble that makes dermatologists fret, because you don't get rid of it until both problems, the old and the new, are solved. And if that weren't enough, there is always the question of allergy lurking in the background. After five years of struggling with this ear infection, you have good reason to agree with your doctor: It is almost impossible to clear up such a condition when it has resisted the treatments which usually are effective in such cases. A culture should be taken. This means that particles from the infected area are collected, sent to the laboratory, and there allowed to grow in "culture" form, after which studies are made to determine just what organisms are present. I suspect that it might prove to be a fungus, very probably complicated by the presence of some other organism which has become a slowaway for a free ride at your expense.

Near Incinerator
Dear Dr. Molner: My apartment is near the incinerator in our building and sometimes smells of fumes and smoke. Could you suggest a test to allay suspicions about carbon monoxide? (M.S.)

Don't try to test it yourself. Call the local health department, or a heating and ventilating company.

Bites Finger Nails

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, who is 24 years old, has had a bad habit of biting his finger-nails for the last five years. It is worsening. This habit, of course, originates in the nervous system. What treatment do you recommend—medical or psychiatric? (Mrs. S.A.)

Let me be blunt. If you are worrying about it, when he is 24, instead of letting him worry about it, if this is a habit that has been present five years (since he was 19); if it is, as you say, something that originates in the nervous system, then here's my advice:

Let this man (no longer a boy) go! If he needs help, let him come back and ask for it. If he chooses. But let him go! He may be biting his nails because he wants to get away on his own, but can't.

'Pop' Concert Scheduled at Xavier High

Wind Ensemble; Four Band Groups To Offer Variety

The Xavier High School wind ensemble and four bands are preparing for a "pop" concert to be presented at 8 p.m. March 8 in the Xavier gymnasium. In a tradition started last year, the concert will be the final offering in the Carnival of Arts weekend.

The concert will feature a jazz combo of local professional musicians who will introduce "Dixieland" as a form of jazz.

Last year's concert was played before a capacity audience which, according to band director Francis Scholtz, was probably the most enthusiastic audience ever assembled for a Xavier musical event.

Jazz Combo
In this concert the jazz combo demonstrated the art of improvisation which makes jazz unique and showed "what jazz is made of," starting with the simplest form of jazz, the "Blues." In the upcoming concert the combo will go a step farther and introduce the next form of jazz, Dixieland.

Another feature of the program will be a generous selection of "show music." The concert band will do music from "The Sound of Music," the wind ensemble will play selections from "Bye Bye Birdie," and the prep (freshman) band will do music from "My Fair Lady."

Wednesday, Feb. 19, 1964 Appleton Post-Crescent B7-
The stage band will take listeners back to the years of 1937 to 1950 with the sounds of big name bands. Even a sample of the current "twist" music will be performed for the younger listeners. The pep band, which has performed at every home basketball game, will do the current hit, "Java."

What do we mean "proved"? Simply this: The way GM engineers see it, the true measure of a car is in the way its thousands of parts work and hold together.

And that means testing, testing and more testing to know what will happen to every part of a GM car—no matter where you drive it. That's why we test GM suspensions over cobblestone blocks, black-topped rural side roads, raw dirt trails and fast test tracks. It's why we subject GM bodywork and GM finishes to mud baths and showers of salt. And why we test our engines and transmissions in the penetrating cold of winter nights on our 4,011-acre Proving Ground at Milford, Michigan; in the searing heat of high noon at our desert test facilities near Phoenix; and up rocky trails around our Pikes Peak test headquarters. In short, we test our cars the long way, the hard way, the right way—before they go into production.

That's why a GM car is so likely to be worth more to you: when you buy it, as you drive it, and when you go to sell it.

Working Wife's Wage Lowered by Extra Costs

BY MARY FEELEY
Dear Miss Feeley: I would appreciate your help in determining how much I am contributing to family income. My husband's earnings vary from year to year but are seldom less than $7,000 or more than $9,000. My salary is $100 per week. We have one child. We pay out approximately $1,700 per year for child care and household help. I drive 130 miles to and from work each week. However, a second car is a necessity whether I work or not. I have my hair done every week and probably wouldn't if I didn't work. I would probably spend slightly less on clothing if I were a housewife. I carry my lunch practically all of the time. I do make a slight saving on the family hospitalization policy and a life insurance policy. I have through a group plan. We spend an average of $35 per week for groceries, and would like to know how far out of line this is. It includes cleaning supplies and lunches for the house-keeper.

M. J., Toledo, Ohio

Dear M. J.: Brace yourself. If your $100 is gross weekly pay, you're contributing only about $22 to $24 a week—less than you're spending for child care and household help.

However, if the $100 is take-home pay, then the picture is a little brighter. You're making a $40 contribution—or just $7 more than you're paying for those household help and child care expenses you fault of their own. But there are sometimes extenuating circumstances very close to these figures.

Transportation, $10, additional clothing, $5; personal care, $5; social security, $3.30; an occasional lunch or snack, $1; seems the husband was in the child care and household help. $33. Total, $55.30.

Your food bill, including household operating costs, isn't too far out of line for families of employed wives. The low cost estimate for a household such as yours would be $28.70, the high based on an income of about $300 a month. Here it is. Try a big affair, so why not pretend that the very next affair you attend is your coming-out party? Come out of your shell and try to circulate in different social groups. Excuse yourself and go on to another. Did you know that when you're invited to a from $16.10 to $18.50, depending upon what exemption you have taken. Also, a second income can place the joint family income in a higher tax bracket. And while we're being realistic, let's not overlook the "occupational hazards" of office donations. Few escape them. Of course, none of this is saying you shouldn't keep your job if it contributes to your emotional well-being. Satisfying work and a privilege every individual is entitled to.

Dear Miss Feeley: I enjoy your column and wonder if you could help me. I am contemplating resigning my part time job, because my employer said I have reached top pay scale and I feel I should make more money. I work at a part time job—three hours a day, and have held this job for 14 years.

If I resign, am I eligible for unemployment checks?

R. W., Bayshore, N.Y.

Dear R. W.: If you have had significant changes in the kind of work you have been doing, with an increase in responsibility, then possibly you would be entitled to unemployment insurance. The fact that you've been working a part time does not enter into the situation.

If you should decide to resign, your case would be reviewed home pay, then the picture is a little brighter. You're making a $40 contribution—or just $7 more than you're paying for those household help and child care expenses you fault of their own. But there are sometimes extenuating circumstances very close to these figures.

TELEPHONE WAITS
Dear Louise: I am a woman business executive and work at fever pitch to meet a number of daily deadlines. Invariably I'll get a call from a girl operating a switchboard who wants some personal information. While I'm helping her, she'll say, "Just a minute please." Sometimes it's a long, long wait. Others will call and say, "Do you mind waiting until I answer another call?" Housewives who call are often interrupted by screaming babies or small children. Again I wait until all is quiet. I haven't that kind of time to wait. I'll excuse mothers of unpredictable tots, but the other waits are frustrating and nerve wracking. Do you think I'm entitled to hang up if these waiting periods are too long? I don't want to be rude or thoughtless.

Louise Davis Answers:
Yes. The rudeness and thoughtlessness is theirs, not yours. If these callers get a dead year round. Choose flower print line when they return to talk for soft flattery. with you, they will call again. As a business woman with many things to do in an allotted time, 24 1/2. Size 16 1/2 requires 3 1/2 yards you have a right to hang up if 45-inch fabric. you think you've waited too long. When the second call comes, you can always give a sincere apology such as, "Please forgive me for hanging up. It was something I couldn't help. I was doing something that needed my immediate attention and time was at a premium." You might have occasion to add (if you think an operator will hold you up again), "If you are apt to answer more incoming calls, and if this call isn't on business, would you mind phoning me during your coffee break when you won't be getting interruptions."

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Dramatics in Gray Hair

Don't bemoan gray hair. Either tint it or dramatize it! If you decide to tint, aim for a color that is close to, but a bit softer than your hair's original shade. A dramatic change in color might prove too conspicuous. And like a convincing makeup, a convincing tint job must look the real thing.

Should you decide to let nature take over, you will not want for company. Many renowned beauties take pride in their silver heads. Some lovelies actually have dyed their locks silver!

Obviously gray hair no longer carries a stigma of age. Yellowed or ungroomed, however, it is and ever has been a blight on loveliness. For distinction, gray hair requires infinite care and expertise. This is the program:

- To keep the hair at the peak of condition, via scalp treatments, massage and brushing.
- To prevent yellowing, use a silver-toned shampoo or after-rinse. Both come in a range of silvery shades, from pale to deep. Experiment until you find the nuance that offers the most character to your hair and flattery to your skin.
- Avoid fussy hairstyles. Hold your hair in a simple, clean, four-way method. It works wonders through corrective exercise, posture, skin care and make-up. Procedures are detailed in the leaflet, "Banish Crepey Throat and Chin." For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of your newspaper, enclosing 10 cents in coin and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Democrat Calls Pay Scheme An 'Incentive'

GOP Spokesmen Say Plan Is a Drastic Measure

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Milwaukee County Democrat Chairman William J. Riggins said Tuesday night a plan to pay precinct workers 50 cents for each unregistered voter whose name was added to the poll lists was an incentive.

State Republican Chairman Talbot Peterson described the plan as "drastic" and said it was started by Democrats "to bolster their sagging fortunes in Wisconsin." He added that while there is no law against paying political party workers, Republicans have so far been able to rely on "dedicated" volunteers.

Agree on Plan
Riggins said State Democrat Chairman J. Louis Hanson and National Committeeman Patrick Lucey had agreed on the plan, using funds advanced by the Democratic National Committee.

In saying the payment was on an incentive basis, Riggins said that workers had expenses, such as auto use, in getting unregistered voters signed up. He added:

"These workers, first of all, have to be dedicated party members, but we give them a little bonus as an added incentive. We can't pay everybody who is involved in the registration drive but we do have to pay some money in such a campaign."

Aubame Is Provisional Head of Gabon After Coup Is Successful

Takes Reins at Libreville From Ousted President M'ba

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (AP) — Jean Hilaire Aubame, chief political foe of Gabon's ousted President Leon M'ba, has been named provisional premier in the wake of Tuesday's bloodless coup in the former French African colony.

Aubame, 51, who heads a 10-man government, said in a broadcast from the Gabon capital of Libreville that he would respect the international commitments of M'ba's pro-French regime.

He appealed for calm and said the interests of foreigners in Gabon would be respected.

He told Gabon's 420,000 inhabitants: "It is because of your anguish and repeated appeals and to spare our dear Gabon from a general revolt and its consequences that our soldiers and gendarmes have just freed the country of a regime which was leading it fatally to disorder."

reported in Harrisburg, including a foot in a 7-hour period. Nearly a foot of snow covered the ground in Phillipsburg, in central Pennsylvania, and in Martinsburg, W.Va. Visibility was reported zero at times in Allentown, Pa.

Heavy wet snow fell in mountain sections of North Carolina with up to 14 inches at Mount Mitchell. More than a half foot of snow was reported in the Virginia mountains.

Snow Warnings
Heavy snow warnings were in effect for the Ohio Valley and most of the middle and north Atlantic states. Amounts up to a foot were indicated in parts of the central Appalachians and southern New England.

Rain fell in some eastern areas during the night, with more than one inch reported in Delaware, eastern Maryland and southern New Jersey.

Gale warnings were displayed along the Atlantic Coast from Cape May, N.J. to Eastport, Maine, as the storm churned into New England. Temperatures ranged around freezing in most of the snow-rain belt.

Hits Southeast
The storm Tuesday swept from Texas through the South to east. The drenching rains changed to snow as the storm moved northward. Strong winds lashed areas in Florida, with gusts of 54 miles an hour in Orlando. A tornado struck a desolate area near Lake Istokpoga in Highlands County.

Light snow fell in eastern parts of the central plains and in the middle Mississippi Valley while snow flurried in the Great Lakes region and in the northern Rockies. Showers sprinkled the north Pacific Coast region. Temperatures were near zero in sections of northern New England and North Dakota but readings ranged from the 20s to the 40s in most parts of the nation.

United States Senate, said Tuesday night that Wisconsin is "treated like a poor relation" by Washington and is not getting its fair share of federal defense contracts.

In a Lincoln Day dinner address at Ashland, Renk said Wisconsin is paying two percent of the total federal taxes and should get at least that much of government business.

Other Members
Other members of the committee are Lt. Jean Essene and Sub-Lt. Daniel Nbo Edou.

The coup came after a long power struggle between M'ba, head of the Gabonese Democratic Bloc and Aubame, leader of the Democratic and Socialist Union.

M'ba last month dissolved Gabon's 67-member Parliament and called new elections for Sunday to choose a 47-member assembly. The president said the membership was being reduced as an economy measure. Opposition sources charged that the move was aimed against Aubame's party, which put up no candidates.

450-Man Army
Gabon's 450-man army, which had pledged loyalty to President M'ba a month ago, took over without firing a shot.

Wallace Says

Storms of Protest Would Arise If Rights Bill Were Understood

MADISON (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace said Tuesday night that if the American people understood all aspects of the civil rights bill pending in Congress "their indignation and ire would develop storms of protest and outrage."

Wallace spoke at a University of Wisconsin symposium on "The Importance of Dissent in a Free Society." The 1,800-seat Memorial Union Theater was filled and his address was carried by a loudspeaker system to an estimated 1,000 persons in the halls and other rooms.

Orderly Protest
Outside the union, more than 200 placard-carrying demonstrators stood in orderly protest. At an earlier hotel news conference, about 40 chanting demonstrators circled the entrance while carrying signs reading, "Alabama, America's Shame," and "Civil Rights, Not State's Rights."

Wallace, in his symposium address, quoted constitutional lawyers, Aristotle, Cicero, St. Thomas Aquinas and Abraham Lincoln in support of his states rights doctrine.

Awaits Action
He said the civil rights bill awaiting action in the Senate would give rise to a "national government with unbridled total power." There was some heckling when he said the bill would bring federal control of Wisconsin's school system.

Wallace, who remained unruffled before any of the protest demonstrations, answered the jeers by saying, "Please, just listen to an Alabama governor."

Your Problems

Persistent Posers Take Their Chances With Press Photos

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS You are in the newspaper business so maybe you know the answer to this one. I am an active member of eleven organizations. Anyone who knows me will tell you I work diligently for a long list of worthy causes. I currently hold two presidencies, three chairmanships, and I'm serving on seven boards.

As you know, all organizations appreciate newspaper publicity—especially pictures. The photographer who usually takes pictures of the club women in our city was sent over yesterday to photograph our officers. When he saw me he said "What, you? you just shut your mouth and do your job, young man?"

Well, Ann, you should have seen what I looked like in that newspaper picture. He caught my profile—mouth wide open and my teeth looking like fangs. I believe he tampered with your arm during courtship negative because I do not look like that at all—Done In Dear Done: It wasn't the negative, sister, it was the subject. My only suggestion is this: Never bite the hand that photographs you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS What can I do with a hot-headed, jealous fiancé? I have never given Craig any reason to doubt my faithfulness. Yet he does not trust me and I am a nervous wreck over his accusations and violent outbursts of temper.

If I am five minutes late getting out of the office (he picks me up and drives me home every evening) he wants to know who detained me. Last week Craig twisted my arm and insisted I tell him "everything" when a young fellow helped me carry some boxes to the car. The girl was the errand boy. I was not only hurt but insulted. I love Craig but I'm afraid of him. He says after we're married he will be sure of me and there will be no reason for jealousy. Do you believe it?

Dear Molly: No, I don't believe it. And if you do, you're an idiot. A man who twists your arm during courtship could wring your neck after marriage. Don't expect marriage to produce a magic cure for what ails this character. It won't happen.

DEAR ANN LANDERS. I am determined to get this letter in the mail while I'm still steam-heating. My question. Why are people so thoughtless, inconsiderate, selfish pigs?

Thus morning I took my child and now shifts to the eight of hearts. Three diamonds, and turned to page 136 for the continuation and to my disgust I found the bottom half of that page ripped out. Later I went to the beauty shop. While under the dryer I got anything more he must try to develop a spade trick in the West hand.

When East gets the ace of hearts, three diamonds, and turned to page 136 for the continuation and to my disgust I found the bottom half of that page ripped out. Later I went to the beauty shop. While under the dryer I got anything more he must try to develop a spade trick in the West hand.

more low-card tricks. You must abandon this principle when your long suit cannot produce the setting trick. West opens the seven of hearts, a wise and revealing choice. Leading the top card of a worthless suit against notrump will help your partner judge the merit of the suit.

Declarer plays the ace of hearts from dummy and returns the four of clubs. East takes the ace of clubs sooner or later, and shows whether or not he has thought about the defense.

If East has not counted tricks, he will hammer away at hearts by cashing the king of hearts and returning a heart to force Mrs. South's jack. Declarer leads the queen of diamonds for a finesse, losing to the king. East can cash his last heart and now shifts to the eight of hearts. Three diamonds, and turned to page 136 for the continuation and to my disgust I found the bottom half of that page ripped out.

clubs he must shift at once to the eight of spades. South's best chance is to try a finesse with the queen of spades, losing to the king.

West switches back to hearts, since East's lead of the eight of spades (rather than a low spade) indicated that he could not support a spade return. Now East can see the setting trick cards alone, the first principle of defense is to hammer away at a long suit to develop one or East would not bother to lead spades if he held a five-card heart suit since then he could count on three hearts, a club and a diamond by hammering away at hearts. The point is that he counts his tricks to choose the defense.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one notrump, and the next player passes. You hold: S K J 9 4 H 7 6 5 3 D 7 4 C 6 5 2. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. Partner may have trouble with his contract, but you might have even more trouble if you looked for something safer. Leave bad enough alone.

3,900,000 in U. S. Holding Down 2 Jobs

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The overall unemployment rate in the U.S. today is around 6.5 per cent. The overall rate of "moonlighting"—holding down more than one job—is around 5.7 per cent.

The number of Americans able and willing to work at the end of 1963 was around 3,800,000. The number of Americans moonlighting was around 3,900,000.

As part of its effort to help out into our jobless rate, the administration has proposed legislation that would impose penalties on overtime—the theory being that if employers must pay double-time for hours worked in excess of a stated weekly maximum, they'll reduce or eliminate overtime work, will instead hire additional workers and this will make a big dent in unemployment. Most industry leaders are flatly opposed to the "cure." They insist the penalties will only raise costs and will not expand employment to any worthwhile degree. Most labor leaders are flatly in favor, with the United Auto Workers estimating that wiping out overtime would produce 45,000 jobs in the auto industry alone.

Statistics Fuzzy
Even though the pros, the cons and the statistics are extremely fuzzy, the attack on overtime has been launched in and out of Congress.

No matter what Congress does or when, it's likely that there will be new limitations on overtime in future major labor contracts.

What about moonlighting? Should this be banned by law to spread available jobs among more workers? There is a precedent in the fact that in some cities and business concerns, dual jobholding is prohibited for public officials and certain other workers.

Underlining the importance of this question will be the disclosure soon by the Labor Dept. that moonlighting in a mid-1963 survey week was a startling $90,000 above a year ago, the first significant increase in extra jobholding since the annual surveys were begun in 1958. Both the 3.9 million dual jobholding total and the 5.7 per cent moonlighting rate represent new highs.

Direct Attack
Answers to whether a direct attack also should be made on dual jobholding must depend on whom is moonlighting and why. The "who" is easily seen in the statistics. A full 75 per cent of the increase in 1963 over 1962 was among workers whose main jobs were in factories, retail trade and services (such as education, business services and repair services). The majority of leisure time of moonlighting are in these categories. There is an extraordinarily high rate of dual jobholding among those with public administration jobs; 15 per cent of all employed postal workers hold more than one job.

An impressive 1.6 million also are combining a wage or salary job with self-employment in a profession, business or farm enterprise.

The "why" is not so simple, but I can make some educated guesses.

Economic Necessity
A first fundamental reason must be economic—the necessity or the desire for extra income to be obtained from an additional full-time or part-time job. Among men school teachers below the college level, the moonlighting rate is almost 19 per cent, and among men protective service workers it's over 14 per cent. The money reason is self-evident.

A second explanation is the marketplace's demand for the skills of the dual jobholder. In my own acquaintance are several skilled repairmen and construction workers who are moonlighting.

A third reason is boredom resulting from shortened work hours and extended vacations. So far, among the steelworkers getting three-month sabbaticals, few are moonlighting, but steel union officials believe this will pick up as boredom increases. These sabbaticals, designed to spread work, could boomerang unless industry-labor-education leaders train workers to occupy their leisure time in non-paying occupations.

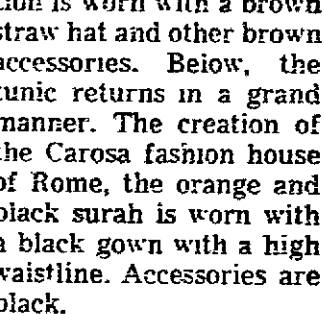

A fourth reason is ambition. This accounts for the large number of employees who are self-employed on the side.

Dare a free economy forbid a worker to try to improve his financial status? Dare it penalize him for having skills in demand or for being ambitious and creative? The answer "no!" is implicit in the questions.

Nevertheless, the steep rise in moonlighting at a time when unemployment is a major economic problem warns us to step up our efforts to educate workers and the non-paying use of their leisure time.

The Ailing House Maintain Flat Tar Roof Top

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q. The two-family brick house we recently purchased has a double brick garage building in the rear, with a flat tar roof. What is recommended maintenance care for this kind of roof?

A. When the tar coating shows signs of brittleness or looks dry, it should have another coat of either more tar or a cold-asbestos compound. A coating of gravel on top of either will greatly help protect against the hot, direct rays of the sun in summer, and against wear, too.

Q. There is hard water in the area of our weekend cottage. We usually have water in our tea kettle and, as a result, there is now a hard deposit in the bottom of it. How can I remove this?

A. Housewares and sewing notions dealers carry a solution for removing the deposit from inside steam irons. This works fine in kettles, too. Also lime-elimination preparations are available at some housewares and hardware dealers. Or fill the kettle with water mixed with cider vinegar, one cup of vinegar to the quart of water, and bring to a boil. Allow the solution to remain in the kettle overnight. Another old-time cure is to mash three or four raw potatoes with a little water and allow to stand in the kettle for several hours. Then add more water and bring to a boil.

Q: What is the best method of removing old lacquer from a brass trombone? What are best materials to use to clean and polish the brass and prepare it for lacquer? What lacquer to use to impart the "gold" appearance of a new instrument?

A: To remove, apply lacquer thinner to the brass with a cloth. Then rub off the lacquer with a coarse cloth. Wash in warm, sudsy water and dry with a soft, clean, lintless cloth.

The brass can be cleaned by washing with a hot vinegar solution in which as much salt as possible has been dissolved. Rinse with clear water and wipe and polishing preparations are available at super markets, stores; follow label instructions carefully.

For a higher polish, after cleaning, cover the brass surface with a paste of whiting and denatured alcohol and allow to dry. Then polish with a soft cloth. Wash, rinse and dry, being careful to avoid water spots, and fingerprints. (Wear gloves at Washington's Birthday Party while cleaning and polishing, to from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Thursday, avoid leaving fingerprints.)

Clear lacquer is available in aerosol form to protect metal surfaces from tarnishing; or use a clear plastic spray. Follow the label directions. Available variously, housewares and hardware dealers.

The Lenten Story

by WOODY ISHMAEL

CHRIST ENTERS JERUSALEM

"Hosanna in the highest!" the crowds cried and strewed His path with their garments and with branches of palm trees.

Thus, Jesus entered Jerusalem in triumph, seated on a colt so as to fulfill the ancient prophecy: "Thy king cometh unto thee, meek and sitting upon an ass, the foal of a beast of burden." (Matthew XXI:5)

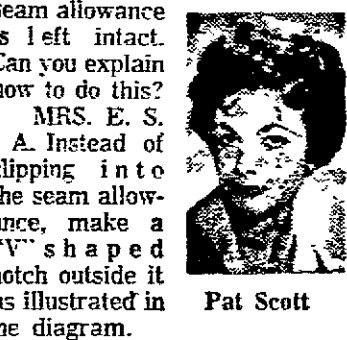

In less than a week, the same crowds would cry out, "Crucify Him! Crucify Him!"

SEAMS TO ME Questions On Sewing

By Patricia Scott

Q. Recently you advised that, but I prefer underlining when cutting patterns, to cut the because silk surrah is rather notches out instead of in so the loosely woven.

Pat Scott

Q. I want to trim a dress with grosgrain ribbon. Must I shrink it first?

MISS H. F.

A. Yes, definitely. Grosgrain ribbon shrinks several inches to the yard.

Q. I try to stay-stitch, but I find it difficult on areas that have a slight curve such as necklines and skirt waistlines.

MRS. M. Z.

A. On the curved edges, stitch from side edges to the center. Generally, stitch with the grain. When the grain changes, stitch in the direction that follows the grain the longest.

Patricia Scott has prepared a booklet, How to Alter Your Dress Patterns, which gives complete instructions for altering so that finished garments will fit perfectly. For your copy of this guide to correct fitting, write to Patricia Scott in care of this newspaper.

Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover costs of printing and handling.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

Try Honey, Butter Topper On Pancakes

Are the members of your family pancake buffs? Then they'll probably enjoy a change from the usual syrup topping. Cream some liquid honey with an equal portion of butter and store in a tightly covered container in the refrigerator. Let the mixture soften a bit at room temperature before serving.

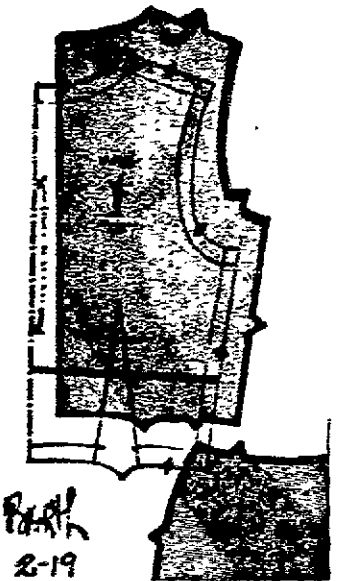

Other Toppers

Or bring half a cup of molasses and a tablespoon of butter to a boil: stir in the juice of a lemon and serve over pancakes.

No maple syrup for breakfast pancakes in the house? If there's a jar of poured (baby-food) fruit on the kitchen shelf, heat it with a chunk of butter for the pancake topping.

Hand Picked Fleece

Cashmere wool — the soft winter underfleece of a semi-wild Asian goat — is never shorn. The goat's wool is painstakingly plucked or combed out by hand during its spring molt.

Q. I have a nice pattern that calls for a full bias skirt. What type of fabrics are best suited for this, or what shouldn't I use?

MISS M. R.

A. Don't use fabrics that have natural elasticity such as jersey because they will stretch terribly. Also avoid flimsy fabrics for a flared skirt because the effect will be lost. Most firmly woven fabrics are excellent for this type of skirt.

Q. I'm making a slim dress of a beautiful silk surrah print. What should I use to line or underline it? And which method is best?

MISS A. B.

A. Use a soft commercial lining fabric, silk organza or China silk. Either method is acceptable.

Gene Ditter, Lone Applicant, Appointed to Newly-Created Post

KAUKAUNA — The city council has long been a source of irritation to many residents. The board of public works was instructed to view erosion problems on W. 16th Street and south of the swimming pool in an effort to determine what could be done to prevent slippage of high ground into ravine areas.

Schlitz Controls Canada Brewery

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. Tuesday accepted $50,000 shares of John Labatt Ltd. in a transaction which gave the Milwaukee-based firm effective control of the Canadian brewing enterprise.

Schlitz said stockholders who offered the stock in response to a Schlitz request would receive a safety committee after it was pointed out, the police were responsible for enforcing all city ordinances.

Aldermen approved payment of $225 to a 10th Street resident for damages occurring to his property as a result of walk installation and a change in grade on the walk abutting his property. The resident in turn will be required to pay assessment for walk installation.

Requests were received from two persons concerning the purchase of lots owned by the city when they became available and the matter was referred to the planning commission and a finance committee for study and recommendation. A request from the chief of police to have state statutes regarding storage of junked automobiles on city property incorporated into the life insurance in force increased city ordinances was referred to the legislative committee and a city attorney.

Mutual Service Life showed an operating gain, before dividends, of $1,644,615 compared with a gain of $1,261,708 the previous year.

Combined assets of the two Mutual Service Insurance Companies at year-end totalled $54,534,716, for a 7 per cent increase over a year ago. Combined policyholders' surplus increased 12.7 per cent in 1963, and now stands at $7,833,213 with $4,172,782 in the casualty company and $3,660,431 in the life company.

Life insurance in force increased by 11.9 per cent for the year, to reach a new high of $431,739,862.

Results Astonishing Bonding Reform Test Apparently a Success

BY CHARLES L. WEST
An AP Special Report

NEW YORK (AP)—Upon no more bail than their promise to return for trial, accused burglars, assaulters and robbers are walking free from the Criminal Court of Manhattan every day.

And 99 per cent of them keep their word.

This is the work of the Manhattan Bail Project, a 2½-year-old experiment in pre-trial parole.

It grew from a retired industrialist's conviction that the concept of innocent until proven guilty means no man should languish in jail solely because he is too poor to pay a professional bondsman for his release.

Council Notice

The results have caused court officials and lawyers all over America to take notice.

The operation of this test of bail reform, a joint venture of the private Vera Foundation and the New York University School of Law is simple.

One recent morning, a group of law students or new graduates, male and female, stood outside the courtroom detention pen. Behind bars—some scared, some hung over and some shaming from narcotics withdrawal—were men arrested during the night and awaiting arraignment.

One, an unemployed actor who had taken a swing at a policeman, talked with a pretty woman who took notes about his residence, employment, family ties and police record.

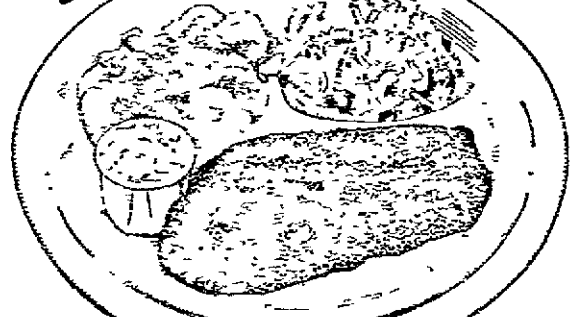

Questions Prespects

A step away along the 20-foot barred face of the pen, an interviewer questioned a Puerto Rican truck driver accused of malicious mischief.

An admitted former heroin "main-liner" said he had been off narcotics almost a year, but his physical condition said otherwise. The questioner faked the remainder of the interview, for Vera refuses narcotics cases, murders, rapes and sex offenses involving children. Some 40 per cent of the defendants

Court Shakes Validity of Congressmen

Apportionment Is Key to Decision Of Judicial Body

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court of the United States can certainly throw a monkey wrench into the machinery. Within the last two days, the country has been told by one of the justices that almost all of the members of the present House of Representatives may have been illegally elected and that this is what the latest Supreme Court opinion means.

Lawrence

Just what does this do to the validity of the legislation passed by this Congress? And what about the acts of previous Congresses which were elected in the very same way that the Supreme Court now denounces?

The nation has again been given an example of the almost incredible power which the Supreme Court of the United States assumes to exercise over the other branches of the government merely by the use of what is called "judicial interpretation."

For many decades, whenever a fundamental change in the existing system was deemed necessary by the people, they adopted an amendment to the Constitution in the manner prescribed in that document. But this course isn't being followed today.

Justice John M. Harlan explained — more clearly than any layman could — the meaning of the 6-to-3 decision rendered by the court this week on the subject of reapportionment of congressional districts. In his minority opinion, he said:

Casts Doubt

"I had not expected to witness the day when the Supreme Court of the United States would render a decision which casts grave doubt on the constitutionality of the composition of the House of Representatives. It is not an exaggeration to say that such is the effect of today's decision. The court's holding that the Constitution requires states to select representatives either by elections at large or by elections in districts composed 'as nearly as practicable' of equal population places in jeopardy the seats of almost all the members of the present House of Representatives."

Justice Harlan pointed out that in the last congressional election in 1962, representatives from 42 states were elected from congressional districts and that in all but five of those states there was a sizeable inequality in the population of the districts. He then added:

"Thus, today's decision impugns the validity of the election of 398 representatives from 37 states, leaving a 'constitutional' house of 37 members now sitting."

Many Arguments

There are many arguments in favor of changing the systems of representation in Congress so that a state's population will be equitably divided into districts for picking members of the House of Representatives. But the real question today is not whether the districting system that has been used by any state is inequitable, but whether the Supreme Court shall prescribe the method of change. Justice Harlan called attention to the simple wording of the Constitution itself, which says:

"The times, places and manners of holding elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing Senators."

No Limitation

Justice Harlan declared that "there is nothing to indicate any limitation whatsoever on this grant of plenary initial and supervisory power," and that the power thus granted by the Constitution to Congress and the states is exclusive.

Justice Hugo Black, who wrote the majority opinion, based his argument almost entirely on the wording of another section of the same article in the Constitution, which says that the Representatives shall be chosen "by the people of the several states." There is, however, no dispute about the right of the people to vote for members of Congress. The controversy arises over the method by which a state apportions its population into districts for the election of its representatives in Congress.

Refused to Rule

For decades, the Supreme Court steered away from any decision on this because it regarded it as a "political" question. This, incidentally, has been given by the Supreme Court for nearly 100 years as its reason for refusing to rule whether the Fourteenth Amendment was fraudulently ratified.

Plainly, there are defects in the present system of establishing congressional districts, but this ought to be remedied by Constitutional amendment, which should clearly set forth a basis on which apportionment shall be made in order to prevent inequities. Justice Harlan said: "The Constitution does not confer on the court blanket authority to step into every situation where the political branch may be thought to have fallen short. The stability of this institution ultimately depends not only upon its being alert to keep the other branches of government within constitutional bounds but equally upon recognition of the limitations on the court's own functions in the constitutional system."

"By yielding to the demand for a judicial remedy in this instance, the court in my view does a disservice both to itself and to the broader values of our system of government." No such sweeping indictment of the usurpation of power by the Supreme Court has been rendered by any justice in recent years. The principle that the Constitution can be mended only in the manner prescribed in

Combined Locks PTA to Learn of Modern Math

COMBINED LOCKS — Daniel Sensiba, head of the math department at Kimberly High School, will be guest speaker for a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association at 8 p.m. Thursday at Ryan School.

He will show graphically how it compares to the traditional math program and how problems are worked. The elementary level of math will be explained to make it as simple as possible.

Refreshments will be served by mothers of fourth graders with Mrs. Richard Brouillard and Mrs. Kenneth Mitchell as co-chairmen.

That document itself has been brushed aside many times by the present Supreme Court. Nevertheless it has gone so far, however, as to issue a decision the effect of which, in the words of Justice Harlan, "is to declare constitutionally defective the very composition of a coordinate branch of the federal government."

Brown County Okays Bond For Airport

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — On a 46-1 vote, the Brown County Board Tuesday authorized the first step on a $1,250,000 bond issue for a new passenger terminal at Austin-Straubel Field and other airport improvements.

The board act called for the initial bonding resolution, the first step on borrowing the money, to be presented to the March meeting.

The airport bond issue will provide $907,340 for low construction bids received by the airport committee last week for the new terminal, $66,000 for site preparation, sewer and water lines and a 500-car parking lot, $14,000 for furnishing, $60,000 for the architect's fee and $38,000 for building contingencies.

water filtration plant and $144,000 as the county's share of paying more apron areas and taxiways to the north-south runway, a project approved for 1964 by the Federal Aviation Agency. The latter project will receive $136,800 in federal money and $30,000 from the state.

$66,000 Bonds

Lotto estimated that the annual interest and principal cost for the terminal bonds would be about $66,000. About half of this would come from income from the new building, he noted.

Smith estimated annual revenue from the building at about $60,000, compared with $26,000 in annual maintenance expenses. In addition to airport projects endorsed today, the airport committee is seeking reversal of an FAA decision for 1964 against extending the instrument landing runway from 5,200 to 7,000 feet to handle smaller jets. The county's half share of such a project would be about $150,000.

Union Pacific Wins Point In Court Towards Merger

Court Sets Aside Untallied Vote of Rock Island Lines

BY EARL AYKROID
CHICAGO (AP) — The U.S. District Court set aside Tuesday an untallied vote of shareholders of the Rock Island Lines on a proposed merger with the Union Pacific Railroad and ordered a second round of proxy solicitation and voting.

The ruling by Judge Julius J. Hoffman was a victory for the Union Pacific in its battle with the Chicago and North Western Railway for control of the Rock Island, a 7,000-mile rail system.

Judge Hoffman issued an injunction prohibiting the Rock Island from holding any meeting of its shareholders for the purpose of voting on the proposed merger within 60 days from Tuesday. The Union Pacific, which brought the suit for injunction, had requested such a delay.

Restraining Order
The court also restrained the three railroads involved from voting any proxies received on or before Tuesday at any meeting of stockholders of the Rock Island for the purpose of voting on the merger.

The ruling, in effect, invalidated a vote on the merger taken at a special shareholders meeting Nov. 15, 1963. The votes were never counted.

The Union Pacific, on the eve of the meeting, sued to have the vote count held up, claiming that North Western violated Securities and Exchange Commission rules in its campaign to defeat the Rock Island-UP merger. The suit said moves by the North Western might lead to a vote against the consolidation.

Votes Cast
Judge Hoffman permitted the votes to be cast but ordered them impounded pending disposition of the suit.

R. Ellis Johnson, president of the Rock Island, said outside court that directors of the road would meet later this week to set a new date for shareholders to vote on the merger proposal.

The court, in a 21-page memorandum, held that the North Western was guilty of unlawful proxy solicitation.

It termed false and misleading a progress report on the merger that was prepared by Hanger, Stone & Co. Inc., a New York brokerage firm, and

Small Military Aid Programs for 3 Nations Halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has halted small military aid programs for Britain, France and Yugoslavia in retaliation for their continuing to trade with Cuba.

Carrying out a congressional ban on aid to nations that trade with the Cubans, the State Department Tuesday also announced that Spain and Morocco would get no new U.S. aid until they provide "further clarification" of their trade policies with the Cubans.

Sources indicated that the amounts of aid involved in the cutoff was about $25,000-$30,000 for France and less for Britain and Yugoslavia. The exact figures are secret.

Threat of Rail Strike Has Ended

Railroad to Delay Putting New Work Rules Into Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

RAILS: The threat of a nationwide rail strike next Tuesday has ended with a decision by the railroads to delay for a time putting disputed new work rules into effect.

But a spokesman said that no decision has been made to delay a new showdown in the five-year dispute until after next November's presidential election, as reported in the Washington Star.

Congress last summer ordered compulsory arbitration for the key firemen and train crew size issues. Other issues were left to be negotiated.

Negotiations, on such matters as wage scales, working conditions, vacations and holidays, are reported getting nowhere. The railroads could force the issue by ordering new work rules put into effect.

RELIABILITY: A congressional transcript confirms that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Curtis E. LeMay disagree on the reliability of U.S. missiles and bombers.

The transcript—censored by the Defense Department—does not make clear the extent of the conflict. The House Armed Services committee made public Tuesday the testimony by McNamara and Gen. LeMay during hearings between Jan. 17 and Feb. 7.

McNamara and LeMay apparently also disagreed on the reliability statistics they presented to the committee. The figures were deleted from the transcript.

In general, McNamara favors missiles, while LeMay likes bombers.

ASSASSINATION PROBE: Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., wants to force the Warren commission to disclose publicly all evidence it gathers on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Rep. Williams introduced his resolution Tuesday and said in a statement that "widespread public reaction has not been favorable to Chairman Earl

Policeman Charges Self With Littering And Pleads Guilty

WISCONSIN RAPIDS (AP) — A police sergeant, who was the subject of an irate taxpayer's letter to a newspaper, took himself to court on a littering charge and pleaded guilty but the case was dismissed Tuesday.

Sgt. Allen Spencer's plea was refused by Wood County Judge Frederick Fink, who said:

"The court can see no benefit to be derived in finding you guilty. . . . Too often a situation comes before this court which is a crime only technically and, upon many of those occasions, in the interest of justice the court dismisses these cases."

According to testimony, Spencer investigated a three-car accident on a bridge Feb. 11, picked up two pieces of glass from a broken headlight and tossed them into the Wisconsin River.

A citizen who saw Spencer throw the glass into the water complained in a letter to the Wisconsin Rapids Tribune, and Spencer charged himself.

Warren's statement to news men that some of the evidence may not be released "in your lifetime."

MAPPING SATELLITE: A Defense Department official has disclosed that the Air Force launched a new type of mapping satellite called Secor for the Army on Jan. 11.

Dr. Albert C. Hall of the Department's Office of Research and Engineering, included the satellite launching Tuesday in a casual listing of military space projects in a talk before the National Space Club and the Aviation-Space Writers Association.

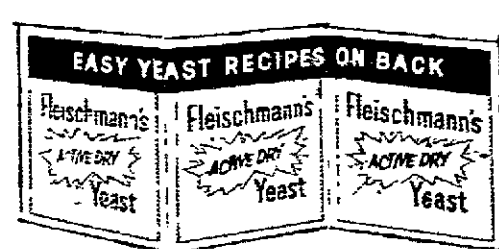

The satellite was launched in polar orbit from the Pacific Missile Range and marked the first success in four tries.

WELFARE PLANS: Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz reported today that assets totaling $66 billion were held in employee welfare and pension benefit plans in 1963.

He predicted that assets in such plans would reach $100 billion by 1970.

In a statement accompanying the release to Congress of the annual report on the administration of the welfare and pension plans disclosure act, Wirtz said the $66 billion figure did not include the government retirement program with reserves of more than $40 billion, and old-age, survivors and disability insurance, which has $20 billion in reserve.

Last Round Coming Up In Sidewalk Squabble

The dispute between the city and James Meiers over a sidewalk strip, three feet wide and 55 feet long, or not be charged for the sidewalk expense.

Since last summer the city has attempted to get Meiers to deed a strip of land in front of his property at 925 W. Grant St. so a sidewalk can be installed. Meiers, who resides at 926 W. Wisconsin Ave., says he will not bow to the city's demand, even if he is taken to court.

The council's street-sanitation committee has indicated it would do just that in a few weeks.

Normal Process
It is normal procedure for property owners to deed land to the city needed for sidewalk construction. However, Meiers

Value Set at $1
In keeping with procedure leading to condemnation, the city hired two appraisers to set a value on the strip needed for the sidewalk. Appraisals cost the city $50.

The appraisers set land value at $1.

Monday morning Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said he talked with Meiers and again asked him to sign the deed for the strip. Meiers declined to discuss it, according to Bues.

Under the law, the city must "negotiate" with the property owner for the land. The $1 offer will represent the city's legal obligation, and if turned down, sets the stage to take the owner to court.

Bues, at the suggestion of Mueller, was instructed to send Meiers a registered letter, advising him if he did not accept the city's offer he would be taken to court immediately.

Follow Statute
Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (7th) told the committee that the public get the wrong idea, the negotiation with Meiers was to comply with the statute "and in no way in the city is in the business of buying property for sidewalks."

Once Meiers receives his registered letter, the next move will be up to him.

"Spring is just around the corner and there is no need for having youngsters walking through mud in front of places where there are no sidewalks," Mueller said.

At the same time the committee approved a request by the west side of Gillett Street Mueller to install sidewalks

Senate Group Delays Calling Charles Finley

Cronin Refuses To Put Franchise
Switch on Agenda

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee has stepped aside to let the American League have first crack at Charles O. Finley before deciding whether to summon him for questioning.

The hard-pressed Kansas City Athletics' owner has a date Friday in Boston with his fellow clubowners to explain why he hasn't obeyed their directive to sign an agreement to operate his baseball team next season in the Kansas City Municipal Stadium.

Finley's so far unsuccessful efforts to move his team from Kansas City have brought him in conflict with league officials and both Missouri senators. But that didn't prevent him from challenging the subcommittee chairman, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., also.

Invited to Testify
Hart said he had invited Finley to testify before his antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, along with Joe Cronin, president of the American League and Warren Giles, president of the National League, but Finley's lawyer had said he felt the Kansas City owner shouldn't testify before the Friday session with American League clubowners.

Hart's subcommittee wound up two days of hearings Tuesday on a bill to extend to professional football, basketball and ice hockey the same antitrust immunity now enjoyed by baseball.

In Chicago, Finley denied he had received an invitation to testify, but said he was "ready, available and willing to supply any records they want."

Finley also disclosed that he had received a telegram from Cronin rejecting Finley's request that the purpose of Friday's meeting be enlarged to include consideration of his request.

Gillman Signs 5-Year Pact

Squelches Reports Of Shift to NFL
Head Coaching Job

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The San Diego Chargers of the American Football League Tuesday announced the signing of a new five-year contract with Sid Gillman to continue as coach and general manager of the club, which he led to the league's 1963 championship.

Terms of the new contract, other than its length, were not disclosed in the announcement by Chargers President Barron Hilton. But it had been unofficially reported that Gillman had been getting $30,000 a year and was offered a $5,000 raise.

Announcement of the signing put to rest reports that he was considering a move, with the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles mentioned as possibly interested.

Gillman, 52, coached college football at Miami of Ohio and the University of Cincinnati before a five-year period as head coach of the National Football League's Los Angeles Rams.

In his four subsequent years as Chargers' coach and general manager he has compiled a record of 38 wins, against 21 losses and no ties. Under him the Chargers won the league's Western Division title in 1960, 1961 and 1963, and the 1963 championship.

Keith Lincoln Wins Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Keith Lincoln, the star fullback who led the San Diego Chargers to victory in the American Football League's championship game, was named January's outstanding professional athlete in the monthly Hickok poll Tuesday.

Lincoln scored two touchdowns in the Chargers' 51-10 title game triumph over the Boston Patriots Jan. 5.

McHale Verifies That Spahn's Contract Calls for $85,000

MILWAUKEE (AP)—John McHale, president and general manager of the Milwaukee Braves, described as "very accurate" Tuesday night the report pitching ace Warren Spahn's 1964 contract calls for $85,000.

"I would say it was very accurate," McHale said when asked about the reported $85,000 on the "Hot Line to Bobby Bragan" radio show (WTMJ).

McHale replied to the question after first replying to another query about "newspaper guesses" of ball players' salaries. He said he was found "those guesses are usually low."

CHICAGO (AP)—The race for the Big Ten basketball championship is on full force between Ohio State and Michigan with Minnesota holding an outside position.

Minnesota's Golden Gophers knocked off the second-ranked Michigan, 89-75, Tuesday night to pull Michigan into a first-place tie with Ohio State.

Minnesota also advanced its cause by moving within one game of the league lead.

Ohio State, after winning three straight titles, tied Illinois for the conference championship last year and is in position to make it an unprecedented five straight championships.

Minnesota took a 49-25 half-time lead against the Wolverines and the closest Michigan could come within the lead was nine points.

Sophomore Cazzie Russell led all scorers with 26 points and Bill Buntin added 22 for the Wolverines.

Minnesota, however, had six players in double figures led by Lou Hudson and Terry Kuntze with 19 points each.

Since Michigan, Ohio State and Minnesota do not play each other anymore, the conference title will depend on the also trans.

St. John Quint Will Meet Marinette In Regional Test

Cavaliers Favored in 4-Team Tournament at DePere

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Sports Writer

With renewed confidence and desire, the St. John High School basketball team will go against the favored Marinette Central Catholic in the regional tournament for an upset victory. St. John at Van Dyke gym in DePere Friday night.

The Dutchmen meet the Cavaliers in the windup game at 8:30 p.m. following the 7 p.m. clash between Premontre of Green Bay and host Abbot Pennington High.

Marinette, after its co-second place finish in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference, will rule the favorite in the regional meet. Winners of the two Friday night games will clash at 2 p.m. Sunday for the right to enter the state tournament at Milwaukee the following weekend.

Coach Bill Fitzpatrick, of the Chute, is gearing his quintet for an upset victory. St. John came through with a better-than-expected 5-9 record in the conference and came close to notching victories in several of the losing efforts.

Excellent Chance
"We're glad to be meeting the tournament favorite in the first game," Fitzpatrick said. "We're going down there to beat Marinette and if we do, we have an excellent chance of winning the championship because we have had close battles with both Premontre and Pennington."

During the regular season, Marinette scored a pair of wins over the Chute. In the first game at Marinette, the Cavaliers posted a 69-51 victory and at Little Chute the score was 62-42.

Sparking the St. John offensive hopes is junior Bruce Hammen, the FVCC scoring king, and three other cagers who have topped the 100-point mark in league scoring.

Hammen scored 271 points in the 14 conference games for an average just about at the 20 hopes to name the National Football League club's new "Skip" Beisenstein who had 270 and Jan Roland of Marinette, who scored 269.

Roland did not enjoy particular success against the Dutch telephone he has narrowed the field down to one man. He refused to give any hint of the man's identity.

Advisory Capacity
Wolman said he expected to arrive in Washington Saturday, "and if the deal is concluded by then we will arrange a press conference at which the new coach will be revealed."

Wolman reportedly has been concentrating on Paul Brown, the former Cleveland coach, but Brown is obligated to the Cleveland Browns for seven years in an advisory capacity at a reported $82,000 a year.

Other names banded about in recent weeks include Joe Kuharich, former Washington Redskins' coach now in the league office; Jim Trimble, former Eagles coach now in Canada; former Eagles' assistant Charley Gauer; Andy Robustelli of the New York Giants, and Rochester of the New York Jets of the American Football League.

Wolman denied offering the Eagle job to Ewbank saying, "I have never talked to Mr. Ewbank and doubt that anyone in my organization has approached him."

Wolman fired Nick Skorich as Eagle coach after purchasing his left leg and threatened to the club last month.

Wolman Will Name New Coach Soon

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Jerry Wolman, owner of the Philadelphia Eagles, said Tuesday he hopes to name the National Football League club's new coach Saturday or Sunday.

From San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he is vacationing, Wolman told a newsmen here by telephone he has narrowed the field down to one man. He refused to give any hint of the man's identity.

Starrette, Miller, Vineyard Sign Oriole Pacts

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles announced Tuesday signing Tuesday of three of their young pitchers—Herm Starrette, John Miller and Dave Vineyard.

Starrette, 25-year-old relief pitcher of specialist, was called up from the Rochester of the International League last June and appeared in 13 games with Baltimore. He lost his only decision.

Miller, 22, was 1-1 with the Orioles at the close of the 1963 season after compiling an 8-15 record at Rochester after recovering from a serious dustrial accident which injured his left leg and threatened to end his career.

The Jays will be up against another tough one at Two Rivers the following night. Two Rivers, possessor of a deceiving 5-4 loop reading, is extremely tough in its own compact back yard.

Rollie Winter Will Retire From Coaching

Bob Brandt to Direct Roosevelt Cage Team

Rollie Winter, who has coached the Roosevelt Junior High School freshman basketball team for the last 17 years, will retire from coaching at the end of the current season.

Replacing Winter as freshman coach will be Bob Brandt, according to Principal Everett

Rollie Winter

Lee Brandt, a 1948 graduate of Appleton High School and a 1954 graduate of Texas College of Arts and Industries, is teaching industrial arts, coaching eighth grade basketball and assisting in football at Roosevelt.

Winter's current team is leading the Fox Valley Freshman League with an 8-0 record. If the 1963-64 team goes on to win the title, it will be Winter's fifth in the last 10 years.

Coached in Manitowoc Prior to entering the Appleton school system in 1947, Winter coached junior high football for two years in Manitowoc and coached three sports in Salmon, Idaho for one year.

Winter, a 1934 graduate of AHS, played on the only Terror basketball team that posted an unbeaten conference record—10-0 in 1933-34. In that season, playing center, Winter set a FRVC scoring record.

He went to Lawrence college as a freshman, then transferred to the University of Idaho. Winter played regularly for two seasons as a football end and a basketball guard at Idaho.

Brandt, a 3-sport star at AHS, was an all - FRVC basketball player and played on the Myrion Fox Valley CYO Basketball League with 7-1 records. No games were played last Sunday because most teams were involved in the St. Patrick CYO tournament.

St. Therese gained a tie for first place by dealing Holy Name its first defeat, 72-63, in a recent makeup game.

Wisconsin Bearing scored a 7-2 victory over the Terrors in the Appleton Recreation Department's Major Hockey League.

Plante scored four goals, while Christy, Murray and Flagstad also scored for the winners. Hilger scored both of the losers' goals.

Hubbs' Loss Hurts Cub Chances

Kennedy Sure Banks Will Make Comeback

BY BOB KENNEDY

Chicago Cubs

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Until I learned about Ken Hubbs' tragic death in an airplane crash I was convinced that the Cubs would be stronger this year.

Hubbs had his whole big league career in front of him and he was a fine second baseman. Last year, he and Andre Rodgers developed into one of the best keystone combinations in the league.

I haven't even begun to think about a replacement for Hubbs. We'll just have to wait and see what happens in spring training. I'm confident that Ernie Banks can come back. He's only 32 and he's fully recovered from his illness which robbed him of his strength and vitality.

Banks' sickness was a sort of mystery at first but finally doctors diagnosed it as sub-clinical mumps. Even in his worst year, he still hit 18 home runs and was third on the club in runs batted in with 65.

I expect improvement, too, from several other players who fell down, namely Rodgers and catcher Dick Bertell.

Best in 17 Years

Don't be fooled by our seventh place finish last year. It was the best season the Cubs had in 17 years. We finished two games above .500 and that's probably a record for a seventh place quest to move the franchise to Oakland, Calif.

Finley added, "Let's set the record straight right now. Then he read a letter from Hart which said Tuesday was the final day of subcommittee hearings and added:

"If you are still desirous of testifying, we will schedule your appearance for that date."

Finley said, "I do not consider this an invitation at all. He is telling me in that letter that record in the Eastern League if I'm interested, the door is by whiffing 258 batters in only 139 innings, a real shot at a starting berth.

Next to the pitching, I'd have to say Ron Santo was as responsible as any player for our good season. He is the equal of any third baseman in the league on defense and ranks on the same plane with Ken Boyer of the Cards on offense. He was our leading run producer and steadyest hitter.

As a team, we've got more speed and better pitching than we had last year. If Billy Cowan, a young speed demon from Salt Lake City, can make it in center field, we will have the fastest outfield in the majors. Billy Williams, a great all-around player, will be back in field, and Lou Brock, who developed into a star last year, may be switched from center to right. Ellis Burton, who did such an outstanding job for us last year, is still very much in the running for a regular outfield berth.

Cowan has the best chance of any of the rookies to win a regular berth. He hit .324 at Salt Lake City last year and led the Pacific Coast League in runs batted in with 120. Other good-looking youngsters include Jimmy Stewart, a shortstop, and bonus first baseman John Bocabella, who can really hit the long ball.

Asked about Long's latest comments, Finley said, "Regarding Sen. Long's blasts today and recent blasts, I do not wish to engage in personal feuds with any politician, especially those from Missouri."

Bleier's Volleyball Team Still Unbeaten in ARD Tournament

Bleier's is the only undefeated team in the Appleton Recreation Department volleyball tourney. The double-elimination event pits Appleton Teachers against Sindhali's Monday (at 7 p.m.) with the winner engaging Bleier's at 8 in the finals.

Bleier's tripped the Teachers, 15-11 and 15-8 while Sindhali's 28-1 paced over Avengers. Foxes picked up a forfeit win over Hawkeyes.

The Comets nipped the Wildcats, 5-4, on a last-second basket by Charles Kruckeberg. The Bombs decimated the Spitfires, 14-2.

Phil Roof Signs Braves Contract

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Rookie Phil Roof, a slick catcher who has flashed power occasionally against minor league pitching, returned his signed 1964 contract to the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday.

Roof, who will be 23 on March 5, is among the young players invited to a special training camp opening this week at the Braves' West Palm Beach, Fla., site.

Manager Bobby Bragan plans to give the young receiver plenty of attention. Roof has used up his three options and cannot be returned to the minors without Milwaukee losing him.

Last year Roof hit .129 in a brief stay at Toronto and then .223 with 11 homers at Denver.

Roger Brandt's 583 Set Leads

Roger Brandt set the pace in the Cigarette Couples loop at Hahn's Lanes with a 583 series.

Gert Kauffert came up with the top single effort, a 219.

John Koester posted a 562 set, with Ed Reyenbeuh finishing with 552. Leona Rohm rolled a 203 line.

Chesterfield (24-12) heads the standings, one-half game up on Hit Parade.

The Beatles Invade Clay's Training Camp for Visit

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Miami Beach, somehow, got the Beatles. It also got Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston. Taken separately, even at odd times, this should be enough to satisfy any town.

But these various attractions got mixed up together and it's too much.

One could be excused for hoping that the fight between heavyweight champion Liston and Clay now will drift quietly toward the deadline Feb. 25 in Convention Hall. One could not count on it.

The four British rock 'n' rollers dropped in on Clay's training quarters Tuesday at the smelly old Fifth Street Gym.

Naturally, the Beatles were more interested in getting headlines for themselves than in building up Clay's fight. But "The Greatest" was so honored by the visit that he composed this poem on the spot:

"When Sonny Liston picks up the paper and sees
"That the Beatles came to see
"He will become so angry
"That I will knock him out in three."

At the Surfside Community Center where Liston trains the champion also was pleased. He expressed the hope that the publicity attracted by Clay and the heavyweights would be reflected at Clay's box office.

"Clay," he said, "is my million dollar baby."

The Beatles got their pictures taken by a mob of U.S. and British news photographers, but they obviously were not as happy about the whole thing as Cassius and Sonny were.

No teen-agers were present. There was no outburst of enthusiasm. The fight mob took little notice of the shaggy-haired visitors except one who remarked "Who's dem characters?"

Wake Forest Upsets Ranked Duke Five

Blue Devils Absorb First Atlantic Coast Loop Loss in 28 Games

BY TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe the Michigan Wolverines and the Duke Blue Devils won't be in the NCAA championship postseason tournament after all.

This unexpected development in college basketball came Tuesday night with Minnesota's 89-75 upset of the second-ranked Wolverines and Wake Forest's 72-71 surprise conquest of the fourth-ranked Blue Devils.

The defeat dropped Michigan into a tie for first place in the Big Ten Conference with Ohio State at 8-2. Duke's defeat ended a 28-game winning streak in the Atlantic Coast Conference and dimmed the Blue Devils' hopes in the ACC championship tournament next month.

Georgia Tech climbed back into a first place tie with Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference by nipping Tennessee 47-45 and Texas A&M kept its one-game lead in the Southwest Conference by defeating Baylor 77-71.

Davidson Romps

Davidson, No. 8 in The Associated Press poll, crushed East Carolina 105-45 while Chicago Loyola, the defending national champion, whipped Bowling Green 92-33.

Duke took the lead for the first time against Wake Forest with three minutes to go, but the Deacons regained the lead

St. John Faces Marinette '5'

Al Liebergen and Dennis Diederich at guards. Hammen and Dave Van Vreede at forwards and Bill Verhagen at center.

Van Vreede was the second highest scorer on the St. John team during the regular season with 173 points in the league games. He had the high output in the league from the free throw line with 73 conversions.

Van Vreede also was one of the leaders in the foul department, being called for 59 personals.

Rounding out the top scoring for the Chuters was Diederich with 132 and Verhagen with 118. Liebergen, who broke into the starting lineup late in the campaign, had 29 points.

Several big "ifs" are evident for Marinette. If Sam Korp is back in form and if the Cavaliers can get "high" again after their close loss to Xavier, Marinette should sweep through to a state berth.

Dislocated Shoulder

However, Korp dislocated a shoulder last week and saw only a limited amount of action against Xavier Saturday night. Korp had been averaging better than 16 points per game during the season and is the floor-leader for the Cavaliers.

Coach Marty Crowe had his cagers all primed for an upset over Xavier but the Hawks continued their victory string with a 4-point triumph. This undoubtedly took some steam out of the Cavaliers, and Crowe will be trying to bolster the squad's spirits for the tournament.

Snead to Play in PGA Seniors Tournament

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—Nine members of Golf's Hall of Fame, including a brash young newcomer named Sam Snead, are among more than 400 who will tee off Thursday in the $30,000 PGA Seniors Teacher Trophy Tournament.

The 51-year-old Snead joins the select group for the first time in this favorite event of golfers past the golden age. The winner will earn $2,500 and a trip to England to play the British Senior champ.

Other Hall of Fames in the competition will be Jack Hutchinson, 79, winner of the first Seniors tournament in 1937; Denny Shute, 59; Gene Sarazen, 61; Paul Runyan, 55; Mike Brady, 76; Jimmy Demaret, 53; Fred McLeod, 61, and E. J. Dutch Hamilton, 64.

Bill Stewart Dies at 69

Coached Hawks To 'Cup' Victory, Was Umpire

BOSTON (AP)—Bill Stewart was best known as a no-nonsense baseball umpire, but he also was the only native American ever to coach a National Hockey League team.

He won the Stanley Cup his first year, but was fired the following year. That was the way his sports career went in about 50 years—up and down. But it was more up than down.

Stewart died Tuesday of a stroke at the age of 69 at a Veterans Administration Hospital.

He also had been a minor league baseball manager, a college coach, a wrestler, a track star, a boxing referee and a major league baseball scout.

His greatest accomplishment probably was coaching the Chicago Black Hawks to the Stanley Cup in 1938. Chicago finished third in the league standings, but defeated the old New York Americans and the Montreal Canadiens in the playoffs before disposing of heavily favored Toronto for the cup.

Hilbert Invades Reedsville for League Feature

Wolves Seek To Reverse 3-Point Loss

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE

Reedsville	10	1	Omar	5	7
Hilbert	10	2	Freedom	4	8
Winnecoon	10	3	Wrightstown	2	10
Waukesha	10	4	Shiocton	2	10
Hortonville	7	4	Bear Creek	2	10

The Hilbert High School Wolves, currently tied for the runner-up spot in the Little Nine Conference, will invade the unfriendly confines of loop-leading Reedsville in the league's feature attraction Friday night. The Panthers boast a one-half game edge over the Wolves and Denmark.

Coach Al Peters' Panthers won the previous engagement on the Hilbert floor, 67-64, Jan. 28. Gene Klann was the big difference in the Panthers favor with 30 points.

Hilbert's mentor, Ed Burns, boasts one of the tallest lineups in the loop. Andy Schaeffer is 6'4", and considerable board strength also comes from Jerry Thiel, 6-3, and Gary Borneman, 6-2.

Foul Trouble
Schaeffer, a junior, ran into foul trouble in the last meeting, and his loss hurt the Wolves considerably.

Other games around the loop send Denmark to Freedom, Wrightstown to Shiocton, Bear Creek to Winnecoon and Hortonville to Omar.

Denmark, despite the loss of Leon Rasmussen per term, will be favored over seventh-place Freedom. The hitherto first-place Vikings dropped two recent encounters. Coach John Van Egeren's top threat is Glen Bowers.

Winnecoon, possessors of a glimmering hope for a title tie, duels winless Bear Creek. Coach Bob Morgan's attack is headed by Ken Wiesner and the Nickel brothers, Tom and Jim.

Hortonville's invasion of Omar will pit evenly matched clubs. The visitors are assured of a first division berth should they decide the Foxes, although the first division is a long way off, would like to maintain its hold on the top rung in the lower bracket.

The Wrightstown-Shiocton affair will advance the winner into sole ownership of eighth place. The loser will be relegated to ninth. Roger Hendricks will be leading the Wrightstown bid to move up with Dick Surprise, Eugene Peters and Jerry Schmidt heading the Shiocton roster.

Hayes Loses 60-Yard Dash

Newman Takes Race Marred By False Start

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Darel Newman of Fresno State upset Bob Hayes of Florida A&M Tuesday in the 60-yard dash at the first annual Long Beach games.

Both men were timed in 6 seconds to tie the world's indoor record. The race was marred by a false start. Newman jumped off to a six-foot lead in the first 10 yards. Hayes closed fast and almost caught Newman at the tape. They were separated by inches at the end.

Both racers agreed it was a bad start. Newman said, "The race should have been recalled."

Hayes said it was the worst start of any race he had ever run. "When they clock me in 6 flat," he said, "I know I could have broken the record."

Dallas Long, holder of the world's outdoor record, won the shotput with a toss of 64 feet, 8 inches. Parry O'Brien was second with a throw of 62 feet, 3 1/2 inches. Both men represented the Pasadena Athletic Association.

Hayes Jones of the Detroit Varsity Club won the 50-yard high hurdles in 7:1 to extend his win string to 53 in a row.

Bob Greiner Raps 643 Aggregate

LITTLE CHUTE—Bob Greiner blasted a 243 singleton and a 643 series to pace the Fox Valley Bowling League at Little Chute Recreation.

Jansen Construction (42-30) holds a 1-game lead over E-Z-Glide Doors. Other high counts were registered by Bob Sachs, 593; Vin Jansen, 591; Ken Bobber, 236, 576; Jack Lamers, 571; Joe Reynebeau, 562; Jerry Migon, 559; Dick Walker, 556; Floyd Hammen, 554, and Greiner, 227.

Clayton DeBruin slammed a 234 game and 616 series for the lone honor count posted in the Businessmen's League. Weyenberg's Foods continues to hold a slim lead in second-round action.

Kaukauna Mat Team Has 37 Candidates

KAUKAUNA — Thirty-seven boys are working out on the recently organized Kaukauna High School wrestling team, according to Donald Jensen, coach.

The team will not compete in regular league meets this year, but will have a "pick-up" schedule due to late organization of the team. Many of the candidates are underclassmen indicating the school should have good representation next year.

Kaukauna has already scrimmaged teams from Two Rivers, Brillion and Green Bay East and will stage its first home meet against New London Feb. 26. Jayvee wrestlers will tangle at 8:30 p.m. and the varsity at 7:30 p.m. Matches will be open to the public.

Wrestlers are matched with boys in their own weight class. Candidates include David Hardy, Bruce McCabe, Pat Milton, Allan Heindel, George Gast, Paul Bachhuber, Tim Leatherbury, Ron Meidam, George Hagstrom, David Gremore, Joseph Rubarchek, Carl Van Rooy, Jeff Laux, Bob Patschke, Bill Dericks, Dennis Lemmens, Dennis Coffey and Robert Pfanzner.

Hutchinson Receives OK From Doctors

Plans to Leave Late This Week For Reds' Camp

SEATTLE (AP)—The series of treatments for a tumor mass in Fred Hutchinson's upper chest has been completed, and the manager of the Cincinnati Reds is free to join his baseball team in Florida for spring training.

A spokesman at the Tumor Institute of Swedish Hospital here said the institute wants to make a final examination of Hutchinson and take an X-ray of the affected area the day before Hutchinson leaves for Florida.

Hutchinson said he plans to leave Friday or Saturday to join his team. The Reds are scheduled to open camp next week in Tampa, Fla.

The institute spokesman said the hospital will keep Hutchinson's condition under observation and order periodic examinations.

His progress is very encouraging, but there still is a deformity in the affected area, the spokesman said.

Hutchinson, who grew up in Seattle, came here in late December for treatment. Throughout his stay he has planned, with the approval of his doctors, to continue as manager of the Reds.

He was not confined to the institute but he reported there regularly for treatment.

Waukesha School Official Assesses Demerits for Riot

WAUKESHA (AP)—The Rev. John Hanley, principal of Waukesha Memorial High School, said Tuesday demerits would be assessed against four students as a result of a melee at a Milwaukee Catholic Conference basketball game.

The disturbance broke out last Friday night in the Memorial gym just before the end of a game won 51-49 by Milwaukee Notre Dame. The last 50 seconds of the game were played after spectators had been cleared from the gym.

"I have come to the conclusion that there was loose officiating throughout the game and that contributed to the emotional ending," Father Hanley said. He said there was not much he could do about the players involved and said he could penalize the parents and other adults who joined in the melee.

POVOLULU—Stan Harrington, 148, Hawaii, outpointed Eddie Pace, 164, Los Angeles, 10.

Students OK Fee Hike to Aid Kansas State Football

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—The Student Senate at Kansas State University voted 31-2 Tuesday to recommend to the Kansas Board of Regents that student fees be increased $5 to aid the school's football program.

The Student Senate's recommendation will be presented to the regents at the March meeting. The regents have the final say.

H. B. Lee, Kansas State athletic director, said "This is additional evidence that the students are interested in our intercollegiate athletic program and we hope to be worthy of this support by administering the type of program in which the students can take complete pride."

Baker James Leadbetter of Deering, Me., suburb of Portland, discovered that sometimes a gag can become a real moneymaker. He started producing these "Beatie Cakes" as a joke after the British singers of the same name arrived in the United States. He quickly found them selling like the proverbial hot cakes to teen-agers (mostly feminine). Leadbetter gets 89 cents apiece for the mop-topped cakes. (AP Wirephoto)

Expect Sellouts At Bobcat Tilts

Waterloo Invades Green Bay Arena Saturday, Sunday

GREEN BAY — Two near-sellouts are developing for the Green Bay Bobcats' weekend series with the first-place Waterloo Black Hawks of the United States Hockey League. The Bobcats, who must win all of their remaining seven games to tie for the title, providing the Black Hawks lose their last four, clash with Waterloo at 8 p.m. Saturday and again Sunday afternoon (2 p.m.).

"If this weather holds out," a club spokesman said today, "we should really pack 'em in. We're nearly half sold out for Saturday night already and tickets are going just as fast for Sunday's game."

In their series here Jan. 25-26, the Bobcats and Waterloo played to the fifth largest weekend attendance in Green Bay sextet's 6-year history, 7,483.

It will be the final Green Bay appearance for the season for the Iowans, who have won four straight from the Bobcats and hold a 6-4 edge over them in their season series.

The Bobcats will be reinforced for the big series by the return of scoring ace Paul Coppo, just back from the Winter Olympics in Innsbruck, Austria, where he was one of the fifth place American teams leading scorers.

Gene Rebellato, the USHL's No. 1 scorer on an average basis, also is expected to rejoin the Bays after being sidelined for a week with an arm injury.

CBS Reports Explains Movie Biz

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2)—An aspect of movie-making which the average theater-goer seldom thinks about is explored on CBS Reports' "The Flight From Hollywood." That's the business of movies—subsidies, tax loopholes and such. The program traces the post-World War II problems of Hollywood which have led to so many made-out-of-Hollywood films.

7-7:30 (Channel 11)—The Patty Duke Show again manages to make a mountain of merriment out of a molehill of a message. The theme is that mothers work hard and are largely unappreciated by husband and children

Council Okays Parking Lot Land Purchase

Property Will Cost New London
About $10,000

NEW LONDON — Approval to purchase land on the south side of the city for parking was granted to the traffic and safety committee by city council Tuesday night.

The council voted to purchase property owned by Wilford Cupp, on Wolf River Avenue, near the Smith Street intersection, formerly known as the Dauterman property, to be used for a parking lot. The purchase price is $10,000. The problem of the disposing of a house on the lot was turned over to the public property committee.

A petition requesting the city to purchase the property for a parking lot was presented at the meeting. It was signed by several businessmen in the area.

Another property the city had formerly been considering this and another piece of property for a south side parking lot.

At the request of Building Inspector Walter Schoenrock, Ray Pelishek was appointed deputy building inspector from Feb. 19 to March 31. Schoenrock will be gone from the city at that time.

Authorization was granted to the traffic and safety committee to erect a new 30-inch stop sign at the east end of Beacon Avenue where the street goes into the Wolf River. At the present time there are no signs indicating the street continues on to the river.

Barricades Possible
The committee was also asked to investigate the possibility of erecting barricades on the end of the street. Police Chief Jack Algiers told the council he thought some type of warning should be installed so it would protect the city against any liability.

Approval was given to applications for class B liquor licenses to Gilbert Loberg and G. E. Schroeder for the bowling alley formerly known as Michels Bowl. Both men are from Milwaukee and have purchased the alley.

Kimberly Catholic Pupils May Move to Public School

Second Graders Might Transfer In 1965, Third Graders in 1966

KIMBERLY — The second grade class at Holy Name Catholic School may be transferred to the public school in September, 1965, the parochial school board has told the Kimberly board.

The parochial board also said the third grade from that school might be added to the public school system in Sept., 1966. This would be in addition to the continuing the shared time program for seventh and eighth grade youngsters currently in effect.

Should such a move become a reality, the public school would be faced with the need for seven or eight new classrooms and seven additional teachers in 1965 and another seven classrooms and teachers in 1966, according to

Reynolds Says Roads Help Economy

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — If there is no freeway stretching into northern Wisconsin in the future, that part of the state will become an economic wasteland.

This was stressed by Gov. John Reynolds Tuesday when he spoke at a luncheon in Club Sahara sponsored by the Democratic party.

Promoting his proposal for a new freeway and interstate highway systems, Gov. Reynolds said new highways to the north and the western portion of the state, now economically depressed, would be a vital step in the necessary growth of the economy in this area.

Declining Resources

"Much of this area is now depending on declining natural resources, particularly timber and minerals," the governor said. He pointed out a large percentage of the people rely on the tourist trade, now the third largest industry in the state.

"There is a great potential in the development of the tourist business, but we need the free ways to bring the people up to this area," Reynolds said.

The governor pointed out the satisfaction of economic needs in the north was just a phase of the program which will be put before the state voters in a referendum this spring.

He also said more than half of the industries in Wisconsin use highways to transport goods to market, and the needs of modern transportation can best be met on freeway and interstate highways.

West Bend Firm Filed Suit for Patent Violation

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gehl Bros. Manufacturing Co. of West Bend filed in U.S. District Court Tuesday a patent infringement suit against the Fleet Wholesale Supply Co., Inc. of Appleton.

The suit, charging unfair competition and seeking triple damages, said the Appleton company has been selling forage harvester knives bearing the name Gehl as a trademark.

The use of the name would lead purchasers to believe the knives were either manufactured or sponsored by Gehl Bros., the complaint said. Gehl said it has used the trademark on knives since 1917 and spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in advertising the trademark.

Donald Coenen, a manager for Fleet, said firm officials were out of town and could not be reached for comment.

Humane Group Directors Adopt New Rules

Outagamie County Shelter Hours, Procedure Revised

New operating procedures for the Outagamie County Humane Society's animal shelter at Mackville were discussed and approved Monday night by the board of directors.

Here are the new rules to be put into effect immediately.

Visiting hours at the shelter will be from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily, and Sundays by appointment. Although the shelter will be open from 8 to 5 p.m. as usual, the hours from 8 to 10 a.m. were decided necessary for custodial care. The shelter manager should not be called away from her work during these hours.

All City of Appleton stray and lost animals will be picked up the day the shelter manager is notified, but no more night pickup of animals (after 5 p.m.) will be made. Such notification will be acted upon the following day.

All persons desiring to dispose of their pets by turning them over to the society must transport them to the shelter. Pick-up service will be furnished only for lost and stray animals.

Persons wanting their pets "put to sleep" at the shelter shall make a donation to the society for this service.

Daily board rates at the shelter for lost and stray animals held for reclaiming by their owners are presently being considered by the city council and will be announced as soon as they are set.

The shelter manager was voted a salary increase starting March 1.

Plans for ordering eight new outdoor wire dog runs, to be erected at the shelter this summer, were discussed.

Hilbert Teacher Salaries Upped

New Schedule Provides Increase Up to $200 a Year

HILBERT — The school board here Monday night informally discussed the new teacher pay schedule before declaring an executive session.

The schedule as presented to the teachers shows starting salaries at $3,900 for teachers with three years or less of education.

Teachers with a bachelor degree, according to schedule, start at $4,900. Those with a bachelor degree plus 15 graduate hours of study start at $5,000 and teachers with a master degree start at $5,300.

For the first three years in the Hilbert system the schedule would raise salaries $200 per year and after that it would drop to $150 per year.

President Walter Vollmer suggested that rather than follow the schedule strictly, each teacher should be individually evaluated on their own merits and granted raises accordingly.

Recommendations by teachers concerning the schedule were reviewed during the executive session.

Land Rezoned In Kaukauna For Garage

Council Approves Recommendation of Plan Commission

KAUKAUNA — Common council Tuesday night approved rezoning recommended by the planning commission including a parcel of land with 193-foot frontage on Plank Road from class B residential to central business district.

The property is owned by the city, but is being sought by Van Dyn Hoven Buick Sales to permit garage expansion. Van Dyn Hoven is attempting to purchase the property from the city, but no action will be taken until the commission and finance committee sets up a general policy for disposing of city-owned land. The clerk was instructed to advertise public hearings on the proposed rezoning change.

Aldermen voted to rezone another lot from class A to class B residential as recommended by the planning commission.

The lot is on Draper Street and the owner plans to construct a duplex home in the area. A request from an Appleton resident to operate a beauty shop in a private residence on Welhouse Drive was denied after a letter of objection was filed by adjacent property owners.

Equipment Purchase

Approval was given to the purchase of a Cub Lobot tractor from Weyers Implement at a cost of $1,680 when it was the lone bid received. An old tractor is to be included in trade.

Aldermen approved a $2 fee for use of kitchen facilities at the Grignon Home and authorized the health and recreational committee to contact the State Historical Society for assistance in stimulating interest and promoting the Home as a tourist attraction.

Approval was given installation of fence around the baseball field, the east side of the Boyd Avenue playground area and the purchase of backstops for the library and Tenth Street playground areas.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the mayor to enter into a licensing agreement with the Chicago and North Western Railway to permit the city to maintain and use a storm sewer and manholes upon railway property.

Waupaca Mayor Raps Judicial Primary Costs

WAUPACA — Mayor Lloyd Matheson decried the cost of the March 10 special primary for Supreme Court Justices saying it will cost the city $300 and the state between $300,000 and $400,000.

"They argue over $15,000 for a salary for judges then go right to work," he said. He feels the judicial primary could be combined with another spring election at less cost.

Your State Income Tax

Dependents' Credits, Exemptions For Wisconsin Taxpayers Listed

BY NORMAN E. SCHLEY
For the Associated Press

Both the U.S. and Wisconsin income tax returns adjust the amount of income tax finally due according to the size of a family and the number of dependents supported by the taxpayer. While the federal return allows a deduction of $600.00 from taxable income, the state adjustment is accomplished by a credit against the actual tax found to be due. A decrease in the final Wisconsin tax bill will be available at the rate of $10.00 for you, the taxpayer, and an additional $10.00 for each child or other dependent reached your 65th birthday by tests". of course, include the December 31, 1963, the credit fact that he may not earn more than $600.00 and must have resided in Wisconsin during the year. Since Thanksgiving fell on a Monday, the credit for the year ended on December 31, 1963.

Q. Though my son does not live in Wisconsin, he attends college and spends his summers working in a summer camp in the Rocky Mountains. I understand, to be deductible, all of my dependents must live in Wisconsin.

A. No. children of taxpayers have a son attending the University of Wisconsin. A. While you will be allowed a $10.00 exemption if you continue to reside in Wisconsin during the year. Since Thanksgiving fell on a Monday, the credit for the year ended on December 31, 1963.

A. Dependents must be close relatives to qualify. You have a son, 1963, and my dear husband have not been entitled to the passed away on the 20th of December, 1963. What personal exemption am I entitled to? I unless the dear one is related to you by blood or marriage. A. Assuming that you are maintaining a household, that your child lives with you and shown in the general instruction you contributed over one-half of the child's support, a deduction to $15.00 is available only to the taxpayer and wife as they pass plus $10.00 for your dependent child in order.

Charlie Says 'Gung Hoy Fet Toy' for Chinese New Year 4662 of Dragon

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

If you would take my advice, you won't go "Gung hoy" for the Chinese New Year which has just begun—4662.

Gung hoy fet toy is just a means of wishing you a happy Chinese New Year, but the thing is — an animal should do the job.

Chinese New Years are named for animals in 12-year cycles. The rabbit was last year and in the other years are the lamb, the monkey, the boar, the serpent, the dog, the rat, the horse, the rooster, the ox and the tiger. This year's critter is a dragon — but what a dragon!

It has the head of a horse, the horns of a deer, the eyes of a rabbit, the neck of a snake, the belly of a frog, the scales of a carp, the claws of a hawk and the paws of a tiger. At least that is what the ancient legend says. I personally have never seen one but then neither have I ever seen a pink elephant.

In this year of the dragon, as 4662 is known in China, you would be very happy indeed if one of those monstrous critters turned up and gave you a cheery "Gung hoy fet toy" because then you would really have it made.

That dragon (his name is Chen) is the symbol of all good things even though a passing glance at him would suggest quite the contrary. But in Chinese legend, he is the father of happiness, the flag of the Chinese empire, the sign of everything that is sacred.

Old Chen is not only active—according to legend—in art, in society, in religion, but even in politics. Furthermore, he has charge of such departments as rain and water and crops and prosperity and peace.

Has Dragon Helpers

If you think poor Chen is overworked, you are correct. Consequently he has a few aides, all dragons, to whom some of his various duties are delegated.

a gung hoy fet toy. (Not over my house, it isn't.)

Drops From Ceiling

If the dragon is awakened he comes down from the ceiling where—if you can believe it—he has been all the time. Then, with luck, he wishes one and all a happy New Year and departs from the house to go careening down the street.

The folks on the streets are well aware that Chen is moving about town so they hang out a bit of food for him — heads of lettuce with an orange and money tied together are hung from balconies. The dragon eats the food but not the money.

That is collected after the ceremonies and turned over to the Chinese Benevolent Association. Anyhow, Gung hoy fet toy to you all on this 4662nd year of the Dragon. And I hope, for your own peace of mind, that you never, never see him unless you want to. Now is the time.

Why Reds Opened Berlin Wall

It has been something of a mystery why the Communists last winter suddenly opened the Berlin Wall long enough to permit holiday visits in East Berlin for a million West Germans. Sentiment obviously wasn't the cause although some observers felt the East Germans hoped to reduce pressure on their regime by the move. Now it appears that there were other, more subtle and more shrewd motives.

Since the Wall was mortared closed again, there have been negotiations involving West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt on ways to get it re-opened. The East Germans, coached from Moscow, have indicated that passes could once more be issued during the Easter and Pentecost holidays and for "emergency" cases. But they stipulate that three conditions must be met.

The East German postmen who issued the passes before are once more to be permitted to come to West Berlin and officiate. The agreement is to refer to East Berlin as "the capital of the German Democratic Republic." And West Berliners would not have quite the extent of privileges to be granted to other West Germans.

The move once again is aimed at making West Berlin in fact, if not in title, a neutral city, something that is completely unacceptable to the West. And the negotiations also were carefully planned to meet the current political situation.

Last weekend the Social Democratic party nominated Brandt to run against Ludwig Erhard for the chancellorship next year. An early disagreement with the federal government, thought the Communists, might be a temptation for Brandt.

But it didn't work out that way—at least not so far. Brandt has agreed with spokesmen from Bonn that right now the possibility of passes and a reduced tension between East and West Berlin must be secondary to the establishment of unity between West Berlin and the federal government. Both have turned down the Communist offer as impossible although the terms were accepted in part at least during the Christmas holidays.

But we must wonder how long a concerted refusal can be maintained. To many West Berliners the chance of visiting loved ones on the other side of the Wall will begin to seem more important than who issues the passes or what the East German government is called. We rather suspect that there will be a compromise which will be a victory, on the surface anyway, for the Reds.

And yet in the long run, it may be that increased visits and association, even if only in one direction, may serve to loosen the hold of the East German government upon the people. This is what Willy Brandt seems to feel. And he can be expected to say so after a while.

Area Vocational Training

The Appleton Vocational School Board is to be congratulated for taking the initiative in setting up discussions with the four other vocational school boards in the Fox Cities area to explore the possibilities for area vocational and adult school development.

Director Carl Bertram has outlined four possible plans under which post-high school technical and vocational education could be provided on an area-wide basis. These could range from consolidating all the present functions into one metropolitan school to a plan under which the four schools would continue to operate separately but would coordinate their programs so that each could specialize in various fields.

Expanded local facilities for this kind of education are a real need in the immediate future. The warbaby crop of high school graduates will tax our college and university facilities to the breaking point in the next decade, and with costs of a college education constantly mounting many high school graduates will not qualify for admittance or be able to afford it. The high school drop-out problem adds to the need, as does the absolute requirement for skill in some vocation to be certain of employment today.

The Fox Cities area is one of the leaders in the state, yes in the nation, in showing the way neighboring municipalities can work together to solve metropolitan problems. The joint studies our vocational school boards are about to undertake carry on this tradition.

This Ticket Should Have Been Fixed

Police have temporarily ceased enforcing a Milwaukee ordinance prohibiting parking on city streets from 2 to 6 a.m. after a Marquette University student won acquittal in county court of a parking ticket on the grounds that no signs calling attention to the restrictions were posted on the affected streets.

The city traffic engineer estimates it would cost as much as $700,000 to post the necessary signs. The city also faces possible loss of over $400,000 a year in permit fees it receives for night time parking on certain designated streets.

The student's successful objection to paying for a parking ticket could have reverberations throughout the state. Many cities have such overnight parking restrictions and if the Milwaukee judge's ruling stands, they are not enforceable unless adequate signs are posted.

We admire the student's courage in fighting for his legal rights. But this is one parking ticket police all over the state probably wish had been fixed.

Success in College

College admissions authorities are continually trying to find a fool-proof way to determine which applicants should be admitted to a particular college with a high chance of success as a student and gaining the maximum advantage from attendance. All sorts of tests have been tried without a great deal of conclusive evidence that there is any that is completely reliable. Now even the Scholastic Aptitude, a test designed to show the possibilities of a student's mind, is running into trouble.

A report by the deans of admission at Harvard apparently comes to the conclusion that there is no definite way to tell whether a student will succeed. But "personal qualities" of the individual are carefully studied. Those qualities include "effectiveness, energy, judgment and the old-fashioned qualities of integrity, generosity of spirit and cussedness. . . . A candidate who receives a very high personal rating is not expected to combine qualities of saintliness and extraordinary effectiveness and fierce independence."

In other words we gather that Harvard authorities think there are many different roads to success in college—or in life itself. And the placid, polite student with high exam grades is not necessarily the only one who will make a fine record.

Harvard chooses some 1200 students for its freshman class every year from among more than 5000 applicants. When "personal qualities" appear to be high enough, they sometimes balance even very low test grades. And there has certainly been a measure of success in this approach. Students who have ranked in the lower 10 per cent in the Scholastic Aptitude test graduate on schedule just as often as do those admitted to Harvard from among the top 10 per cent, although not as often with honors.

The Smith Brothers

Remember the Smith Brothers of cough drop fame?

William and Andrew Smith have been a fixture in the public mind since 1872 when their bearded faces first appeared on the boxes of cough drops bearing their family name.

Well after 117 years of family ownership, descendants of the Smith Brothers have decided to give up the business. The firm has been sold to Warner-Lambert Pharmaceutical Co.

The new owners have pledged to keep the bearded brothers' trademark on cough drop packages. But somehow it just won't seem the same.

Looking Backward

Crescent Speaks Tongue in Cheek

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 13, 1864.

The German Republicans generally throughout the country are becoming disloyal to the "Government."

The German Republican Associations and newspapers of St. Louis, Boston, Detroit, Cincinnati and other places have issued addresses to their friends and published resolutions denouncing the renomination of Lincoln and declaring for Fremont or Chase. They say they will not support Lincoln under any circumstances.

Brownson's Quarterly Review (a leading Republican organ) annihilates the President's mode of reconstruction in an able and unanswerable article, and declares in favor of Fremont, Chase or Butler "the Beast," for the Presidency.

Ohio, it is said, will send

Chase delegates to the "disunion" Convention.

Such open disloyalty of the foreigners is horribly awful!

Picture of Three Students at Civil Defense Class Misleading

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The Thursday night Post-Crescent picture of three persons attending a civil defense class on Wednesday night certainly enjoyed a prominent location — and on the next day, too! I hope this office will always enjoy such complete and rapid coverage of the many civil defense meetings, programs, and classes that are successfully held!

I cannot take any credit for the "Individual and Family Preparedness" courses, and I do mean credit because the course is well organized and has been very well received by thousands of persons throughout Wisconsin. The State Board of Vocational and Adult Education conducts them through local Vocational schools. A great deal of effort by the Appleton Vocational and Adult Education School, instructors, and Appleton schools went into the preparation for these courses now in session. Unfortunately, this class was scheduled to begin on Ash Wednesday — a time when many persons are at church. However, three courses were started on different days, at different schools and registrants were advised that they could attend on whatever day was most convenient. In checking with instructors, I have found that ed Locks, Jack Lally and Mary Bob Knapp.

Members of the Mary Todd Lincoln Club elected new officers for the year at its annual Lincoln's birthday luncheon at the Candle Glow Tea Room. Mrs. J. G. Pfeil was named president, Mrs. Emma Hitchler, vice president, Mrs. Jane Newell was re-elected secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Matt Bauer, patriotic instructor, Mrs. Nellie Carey, chaplain, and Mrs. John R. E. Miller, historian.

C. A. Heckrodt, Menasha city treasurer, speared a 102-pound sturgeon the previous day on Lake Winnebago. The big fish, taller than the fisherman, set a record for the season.

Pupils of Hillway School, Town of Black Creek, held a Lincoln Day program. Taking part were Esther Sasmann, Norman Leisgang, LaVern Leisgang, Carol Jean Marcks, Bernard Kitzinger and Gladys Leisgang.

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Feb. 17, 1954.

Les Gaillards discovered that 6 was their lucky number. They contributed $666.66 to the March of Dimes that day as the proceeds from their 6th annual sponsorship of the annual benefit dance. Henry Starck was general chairman of the event and his co-workers heading various working committees included Edward Arndt, George Riedl, Warren Choudoir, Paul Schulz and William Starck.

Members of the Roosevelt Junior High basketball team that season included Ed Busch, Jay Hostettler, Tom Meyer, Bill Eggert, Jerry Wren, Bruce Kobs, Jim Rudolf, Jim Nussbaum, Pete Homes, Jim Fischer, Jim Wink, Harvey Thibert, Mike Uiwelling, Carlton Luedtke, Chuck Kneip, Robert Oelrich, Dave Witzke, manager, and Rollie Winters, coach.

New London riders took the first two places in the Men's open class in the Iola Winter Carnival ski jumping competition. Claire Baehman took first place with 127.6 points and Edgar Algiers was second with 126 points. Longest single jump of the day was made by Kerry Kopitz, Wausau, who went 75 feet. The ski conditions were sticky.

only six persons have failed to attend the first session at one of the three locations.

It should be understood that this course does not promote civil defense, but instead, is designed to clearly present the possibilities and problems of natural and man-made disaster, thus enabling students to make their own decisions on what course of action is necessary to protect themselves and the community. The graduates are also able to intelligently evaluate local civil defense programs, and this office will always welcome and respect their comments and criticisms.

At least one person in every family should have this training. There is no cost whatsoever, and one may register by phoning the nearest Vocational School. The few hours given today could mean life tomorrow.

Mannerisms of Speech No Criteria for Presidents

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In Tuesday's Post-Crescent a Vi Stange stated that because of Senator Barry Goldwater's remarks concerning our lack of missile power and President Johnson's gift from Bobby Baker in which he used "hell" and "Buster," she would "think twice before voting for him." I would advise her to think once, but next time more coherently. The author of that letter is symbolic of many American voters with such low voting criteria as to judge a presidential candidate on his sectional idioms of speech, rather than the real issues of an election. Vi Stange has failed to see the real essence of Goldwater's comments: why did Bobby Baker give President Johnson gifts and just how is our defense system in comparison to other nations?

I am glad that past Americans did not reject or elect presidents because of their speech mannerisms: we might

Latex Foam Rubber Founded by English

NEW YORK (AP) — Latex foam rubber, widely used today for furniture cushions, pillows and mattresses, was accidentally discovered in 1928 by two English scientists who were trying to make better tires. The scientists were making tire cords by extruding latex rubber into a gelling bath under pressure when the nozzle popped off the extruder.

A ball of latex spurted into the bath and foamed like shaving cream because of the pressure. The men refined the process, patented it and so founded a new industry.

Much of Moon Seen Only by Soviet Photos

WASHINGTON — About 59 per cent of the moon's surface is visible from the earth at various times because of lunar oscillations known as librations. The remaining 41 per cent has never been seen by man, but some of it has been crudely photographed by a passing Soviet space craft.

Wisconsin Report

Scranton Might Find Some Backing in State As Compromise Choice

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Some Republican politicians of Wisconsin who move around the country are returning with the impression that Goldwater, Rockefeller and Rockefeller will knock each other out at the San Francisco convention in July, and that it is time to be considering alternative possibilities for the nomination.

They are starting to do so with the cool calculations that are appropriate to a problem of selecting a standard-bearer whose appeal, whatever the prospects for capturing the White House, has a direct relation to the problem of returning to power in the state-house.

Republicans tend to be optimistic hereabouts in the presidential campaign years and there is statistical backing for their attitude. But even in national elections, the Wisconsin party division is relatively close. The Democrats have not won a national election in Wisconsin since 1948, and then only by a hair-line, but the margins have been narrow. Richard Nixon carried Wisconsin in 1960, but it took the most determined drive the Republicans had put on for some years and the margin was relatively close.

AND NOW

To whom are the practical Wisconsin leaders of the party likely to turn, in the event of a Goldwater - Rockefeller deadlock?

Normally there would be some response by this time to Gov. Romney of the neighboring state of Michigan. Yet a candid assessment fails to find any significant groundswell here — perhaps because he continues to talk about a draft in spite of the fact that anybody who has any connections with Michigan politics knows that he is anxiously waiting for the lightning stroke. There are also echoes here, among the organization men, about the governor's difficult relations with the party machine of his own state and his thus far light record in achieving his own declared state government objectives.

The candidacy of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine has been regarded thus far as basically a human interest story, with perhaps some undertones of admonition to the professionals about resentment about women's subordinate place in public affairs two generations after the enactment of woman's suffrage. (Mrs. Smith also betrayed her lack of understanding of the mechanics of presidential politics when she completely mislabeled the spirit and the letter of the Wisconsin presidential primary law in announcing that she would not enter the Wisconsin primary this spring.)

NIXON?

There is a considerable feeling among Wisconsin Republicans that Nixon's historically narrow loss four years ago will make him a natural compromise selection this year. There are local politicians in the candidate classification — those who want to run for local offices this year — who remember that he made a good campaign here last time.

But among the professionals there is an unstated but nevertheless important dislike for the man, obviously reflecting their relations with him in 1960. It is probably the kind of personal reservation that will tell on the convention floor, in spite of Nixon's increasingly obvious availability. Sen. Lodge is scarcely mentioned as a possibility in local Republican circles.

That leaves Gov. Scranton of Pennsylvania, beneficiary of an enormous current buildup that may reflect the second choice preference of the Rockefeller forces in the East, among other things, in a typical Wisconsin view. It is worth mentioning that the two movers and shakers of the prospective Wisconsin Republican delegation, "Favorite Son" candidate John Byrnes and Rep. Laird, served in the House of Representatives with Scranton and know him well.

If the Pennsylvania governor decides to move, there is a good chance that he may find some reserve backing in Wisconsin.

Strictly Personal

Why Won't People Sit in Front Rows?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"Why don't people take seats in the front rows?" a school superintendent recently asked me just before a lecture. "The teachers are kids like the kids — they'd rather crowd in back than fill the first rows."

I had noticed this many times myself when giving a talk. Most people prefer to sit up front while watching a movie or play or other such entertainment — but for a lecture, they want to be as far back as possible.

This odd tendency, I think, can be explained as a form of reverse modesty, as a way of avoiding embarrassing the speaker if he is dull or verbose or tries to be funny and falls flat.

Watching a show, we are not looking at characters being themselves but someone else. A lecturer, however, is nobody but himself in his naked essence. There is no writer, no director, no producer, no costumer to blame for his failure.

If he turns out to be a dreary speaker, the people sitting in the front rows (usually the only ones he can see) reflect his failure in their expressions and postures. They yawn or whisper or squirm or simply sit glassy-eyed with ennui. And he can feel this like a slap in the face.

Reynolds Wins District Delegates

nor wants.' The opposing candidates did not represent an anti-Reynolds slate as such, but the Lewis-Mrs. Cherkasky test was made clear by Outagamie County speakers.

Reynolds called Lewis Thursday and asked him to oppose Mrs. Cherkasky, Outagamie sources reported.

Mrs. Katherine Sullivan Kaukauna, spoke directly to Reynolds a few feet from the microphones as she nominated Mrs. Cherkasky.

"We don't need anybody to tell us how to vote. She has supported you," said Mrs. Sullivan wagging a finger at the governor.

You are trying to plow her under. It's a dirty, stinking shame," said Lester Balliet, Outagamie County chairman, in seconding the nomination of Mrs. Cherkasky.

With a motive appearing to shew, Hanson took the microphone to say that there should be no misunderstanding that state party officers automatically would be picked later as delegates at large to the convention. Mrs. Cherkasky was the only district candidate with a state office.

Cites Attendance
In a talk to the caucus while ballots were being counted, Reynolds said the large turnout for the meeting compared with handbills which showed up for district meetings when he was Brown County chairman 10 years ago, and dramatized Democratic success because "It is a party of issues not a party of personalities." The anti-McCormick resolution was tabled at a Jan. 9 caucus after it was introduced by a group of Marinette County Democrats. Despite an executive committee ruling that the only business of the caucus would be the delegate election, the Marinette group got the resolution before the caucus.

The caucus then ended in this manner.

Roland Holtz, Algoma, district vice-chairman presiding for McCormick, ruled that a close voice vote was against taking the resolution from the table and that a following prompt motion to adjourn had carried.

Appeal Ruling
The ruling on adjournment was then appealed, and a standing vote was against Holtz's decision. The Marinette group then got another motion before the caucus, and a standing vote was 120-140 against taking up the anti-McCormick resolution.

The Marinette group blames McCormick for Reynolds' appointment of Raymond Mattison to a sheriff vacancy over their choice, Bernard Prestine, Peshtigo.

McCormick critics at the Jan. 9 meeting also wanted to know why money from a Kelly Lake dinner last August was not in the district treasury, and McCormick said it was in a Green Bay bank.

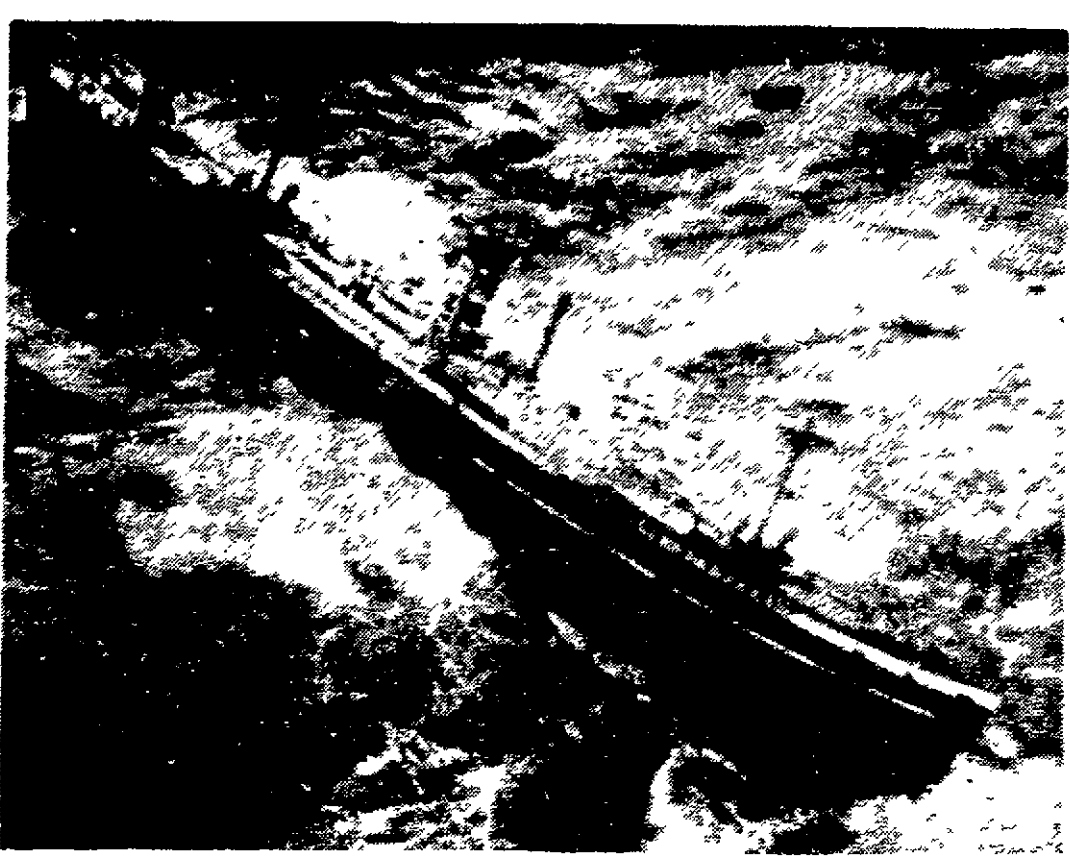

After reading minutes of the January meeting Tuesday night, Charles Sindalar, district secretary-treasurer, told the caucus McCormick since the meeting had turned over $699 to him.

Line Up Courthouse
In a talk on campaign organization, Lucey urged the counties to line up courthouse tickets and a strong congressional campaign to help the top of the state and national tickets. The Rep. John Byrnes - Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Co. involvement gives Eighth District Democrats a "golden opportunity," Lucey said.

Reynolds said Democratic efforts for a civil rights bill, support of state educational aids for poorer areas, and the efforts of his administration for college and welfare institution building all demonstrate the party's purpose.

"All this carries out the theme of the Democratic party that each person develop himself to the extent of his capabilities," Reynolds said.

Hanson went into another room to watch counting of the ballots. The caucus broke up before an attempt was made to introduce him for a talk.

air traffic origination "the most significant evidence regarding the appropriate location of a regional airport for the Lake Winnebago or Fox River Valley area.

Near Traffic Center
"An airport site near Neenah-Menasha," he pointed out, "would approximate the traffic center of passenger origination in the Lake Winnebago or Fox River Valley area."

Stodola, in his 86-page report, cited passenger boarding statistics at valley cities as of the year ending Dec. 31, 1962. He said there were 71,757 passenger hold joint regional airline talkers at Green Bay, 53,914 at Oshkosh and 10,670 at Appleton.

Several studies of airline passenger origination, however, was given by Outagamie County have revealed that approximately 65 per cent of the business last Oct. 15, Winnebago County at the Oshkosh port comes from did not take action, so Outagamie began construction of its share area.

Stodola's recommendations in Stodola called the pattern of dicatate that the bulk of sched-the new Outagamie airport operational by next fall.

The new airport which will be capable of handling the biggest aircraft now utilized by North Central is only partial construction, however.

In 1965 Outagamie County will add a second paved cross runway which will make the airport one of the most modern and up-to-date in the Midwest.

A fixed base operation hangar will serve temporarily as the terminal. A terminal will be added along with hangars in construction to take place after 1964.

Stodola made a further recommendation that Green Bay and Clintonville should both continue to receive scheduled North Central stops.

Other Service
He said La Crosse, Rhinelander, Land O'Lakes, Ashland, Ironwood, Mich., and Winona, Minn., should continue to receive air service, also.

Stodola also said that Wausau, Stevens Point, Marshfield and Wisconsin Rapids should be served through a new regional airport located near Mosinee.

He said "that in the event that the concept of a regional airport for Central Wisconsin should for one reason or another not be realized, then the region should be served through two area or regional airports:

"Wausau and Stevens Point would be the regional sites, with Marshfield being served by the airport in Wausau and Wisconsin Rapids through the airport at Stevens Point."

were disabled, but did not say why.

Unable to maneuver in the raging storm, the Ambassador was pounded by thundering waves which crushed in her forward hatch and flooded her engine spaces. About seven hours after the SOS, the abandoned ship order was given.

Rescue aircraft dropped three 20-man liferafts that inflated as they hit the water.

Another Italian liner, the Leonardo da Vinci, was the first rescue ship to reach the Ambassador. After reporting of the Carthage College campus that she was unsuccessful in attempts to pick up survivors because of heavy seas, the Da Vinci continued to New York when the Fruen arrived.

Without power or operable pumps, the Ambassador foundered helplessly, the Coast Guard said.

The 7,300-ton vessel had radioed four minutes after the Carthage campus by the class order: "Pumps can't handle overflow of water in engine room. Actual condition of the sea very dangerous. Have no lights. Oil flooding engine room."

The Ambassador is owned by the Hall Bros. Steamship Co. of Britain.

Second Siamese Twin Boy Dies

CHELSEA, Mass. (AP) — A Siamese twin boy died Tuesday in Chelsea Naval Hospital, five days after he was separated by surgery from the body of his dead brother.

Michael Richard, born Jan. 17, died of a ruptured bowel. His brother, Mark, joined him at the head, died last Friday and the operation was performed immediately.

The boys were the children of Air Force T. Sgt. and Mrs. Alfred F. Richard of Pawtucket, R.I. They were born while Richard was stationed in Italy and brought to the Chelsea hospital Jan. 23.

'Kissing Rock' Will Be Moved With College

CARTHAGE, Ill. (AP)—Kissing Rock, a romantic landmark of the Carthage College campus that she was unsuccessful in attempts to pick up survivors because of heavy seas, the Da Vinci continued to New York when the Fruen arrived.

The college will be relocated in the summer. Members of Beta Phi Epsilon fraternity have volunteered to truck the two-ton piece of granite to the new campus.

The stone was placed on the Carthage campus by the class of 1913. The Carthage tradition is that any male student finding a girl sitting on the rock is entitled to a kiss.
